Justice Department Probed Morris Ship Deal Half Year Before Cleanup Appointment

Washington, (AP)—Rep. Keating (R-NY) said yesterday that six months before Newbold Morris was chosen as the administration's cleanup man his connection with a surplus ships deal was under investigation by the Criminal Division of the Justice Department.

Morris, appearing before a House committee on which Keating is serving, said this was the first time he had heard anything about it.

Keating asked him whether he would have agreed to become a special assistant attorney general and start out on his corruption hunt if he had known about it.

"I certainly would not have accepted it (the appointment)," Morris replied. He added that if he had had any idea that such an inquiry was under way he would have rushed to Washington and "got it cleared up."

Keating told the ousted cleanup man that he only wanted to know whether he had known about the inquiry, and that he was not accusing him of any wrongdoing.

"There was no misconduct," Morris said, "by me or by my (New York law) firm."

It was not brought out immediately what the outcome was of the Justice Department investigation.

Morris, New York attorney and socialite, was called by the House judiciary subcommittee in its investigation of former, Attorney General McGrath's administration of the Justice Department.

Morris' law firm represented Chinese interests which acquired several war surplus tankers. A recent Senate investigation produced evidence that two of the vessels ferried oil to Red China until a month before the outbreak of fighting in Korea.

Morris told the investigators he had heard that "many" cabinet members were prepared to quit rather than answer his now-famous financial questionnaire.

The ousted corruption hunter said he thought this attitude on the part of President Truman's lieutenants "was responsible for changing the President's enthusiasm for my mission."

Morris told members of the subcommittee that he thought McGrath delayed firing him in the hope that "Charley Wilson or some other dollar a year man" would refuse to answer his questionnaire and tell him to go jump in the river.

He apparently referred to Charles E. Wilson, who resigned as defense mobilizer recently in protest against the administration's steel policy.

Bakery Prices May Be Raised

Washington, (AP)—The government said last night that housewives generally may have to pay more for bread, cakes and pies under a new regulation governing bakery ceiling prices.

The Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) said the amount of price changes would vary across the country, depending on how much individual members of the five-billion-dollar-a-year bakery industry have raised prices in the last couple of years.

One official estimated the increases would run from a penny for a loaf on bread or a dozen rolls to perhaps as much as five cents on more expensive cakes.

Steel Negotiations Recess Until Today; Ban On Deliveries Lifted

Truman Urges CSC Appoint Postmasters

Washington, (AP)—President Truman stirred up a new controversy in the Senate yesterday by calling upon it to give up its historic power to pass on appointments of many postmasters and all U.S. marshals and Bureau of Customs officials.

The President sent Congress three separate organization plans. One would take 21,438 city postmasterships out of the field of political patronage—and Senate confirmation—and place them entirely under Civil Service. The appointments would be made by the postmaster general instead of by the President, as they are now. First, second and third class postoffices would be affected.

A second reorganization plan would remove 94 U.S. marshals in this country and its territories from presidential appointment and Senate confirmation. They would be named by the attorney general under Civil Service rules.

A third plan would bracket into Civil Service, subject to appointment by the Secretary of the Treasury, the offices of collector of customs, comptroller of customs, surveyor of customs and appraiser of merchandise. There was no immediate estimate as to how many persons this order would affect.

Under the reorganization act, the plans become effective unless either the House or the Senate rejects them by a constitutional majority—218 representatives or 49 senators—within 60 days.

Truman's proposal ran into instant and powerful opposition in the Senate, which now had the right to pass upon thousands of postmasters, customs officials and marshals.

Republican Senate Leader Bridges of New Hampshire called the Truman move an effort to assure 20,000 Democratic patronage holders permanent status "now that he sees the shadow of a Republican victory in the offing."

Truman said the plans would not result in advantage to any political group.

Senator Gore (D-Ga.), chairman of the Finance Committee, announced immediate opposition, saying:

"I don't favor it. If the Senate has any respect for its responsibility in selecting and confirming honest and efficient officials, the move will be defeated."

Some Senate support was promised by Senator Humphrey (D-Minn.).

"I'm for the reorganization plans," Humphrey said in an interview. "I hope the Senate Committee on Government Operations will approve them."

Washington, (AP)—The Senate voted 60 to 0 yesterday to let a subcommittee go on investigating ouster charges against Senator McCarthy (R-Wisc.).

The charges were preferred by Senator Benton (D-Conn.), who said they justify McCarthy's expulsion from the Senate.

In a formal counter-attack, McCarthy yesterday urged an inquiry into Benton's conduct by the same rules subcommittee, although he said "I have absolutely no confidence" in the Democratic members of the subcommittee.

New Treatment For Hemophilia Discovered; Patients Not Cured But Helped Materially

Newark, N. J. (AP)—A new treatment for hemophilia—the hereditary disease in which the blood will not clot—has been reported by the Research Foundation of Newark Beth Israel Hospital.

Hemophilia is inherited only by male children and it is passed to them through the mother.

They are born with an important ingredient of their blood missing. Because of this lack, the blood will not clot, and the slightest cut or scratch becomes a dangerous hemorrhage.

Many hemophiliacs become invalids as they grow up, because repeated tiny hemorrhages in their limbs eventually result in the locking of their joints.

And they grow up also with a psychological handicap. Their parents tend to be overprotective, never allowing them to run or play with other children for fear

'Jerk' Carlsen Returns To Sea In Enterprise II

Mobile, Ala. (AP)—The Flying Enterprise II sailed last night, returning a happy Capt. Kurt Carlsen to the sea.

The trip to Houston, Tex., will be the plucky skipper's first voyage since his crippled ship sank beneath him in a North Atlantic storm three months ago. At Houston the ship will pick up a cargo of grain for France.

Before sailing, Carlsen told newsmen it would be "a great relief" to escape the deluge of movie, book and lecture offers that have rained upon him since his return to this country.

The modest skipper firmly declined all such offers.

"Who am I? he asked. "Three months ago I was just another jerk. Well, I'm still a jerk. Who wants to listen to me?"

HST Refuses To Be Drafted; Silent On Ike

By The Associated Press
President Truman said yesterday he is out of the race and can't be drafted, but he hinted he might speak out on his personal choice for the Democratic presidential nomination.

A week ago, Truman said the Democratic national convention should be free to pick its own candidate.

Questioned at his news conference yesterday whether he would express a preference among the candidates before the July convention, Truman replied:

He hopes it won't be necessary for him to do it, but the President has a right to a preference the same as any other citizen.

But he said he had no preference to express—right now.

Truman declined to comment on reports that General Eisenhower had already sent in his resignation as supreme Allied commander in Europe. He said he will make the announcement when Eisenhower is ready to have an announcement made.

On Capitol Hill, a top figure in the Eisenhower-for-president campaign who asked not to be named said he has "every reason to believe Eisenhower's resignation has been received either at the White House or the Pentagon."

Airmen Living In Tents While Officials Argue

Chateaux, France, (AP)—A thousand U.S. Air Force personnel are living in tents instead of barracks in this unfinished base here because of a delayed decision over who pays for what.

Chateaux, Dupont, which was to be the largest outside the United States, is still a skeleton because of an eight-month delay in allocation of funds which are to come from either the Mutual Security Agency or the U.S. Air Force.

Millions of dollars worth of supplies were dumped here but the depot still lacks warehouses, machine shops, and semi-permanent eating, sleeping and recreation quarters.

Seoul, Korea, Friday, (AP)—Allied planes wrecked a Communist North Korean rail center last night, using rockets, bombs and machine gun fire to rip up tracks and bridges and burn warehouses.

Fighter-bombers from three Allied wings made the big strike just north of Kunu when ground haze—which had hampered aircraft all day—lifted just before darkness.

Red anti-aircraft guns threw up a heavy concentration of flak. Three anti-aircraft guns were destroyed and 16 others hit.

Reiterate Views

Munsan, Korea, (AP)—The Communists took only 90 seconds today to reiterate their views on Russia and military airfields in a Korean armistice. Then the Reds suggested that the Panmunjom session recess until tomorrow at 11 a.m., and the Allies agreed.

CIO Claims 260,000 Phone Workers Idle

Detroit, (AP)—A plan for settlement of the four-day-old telephone workers strike still eluded negotiators yesterday in the midst of reported mounting idleness.

Estimates of the striking CIO's Communications Workers of America place the total idle in the nation's telephone industry at approximately 260,000.

Violence in one city cropped up yesterday as effects of the strike spread. A picket line battle in Pittsburgh sent one man to a hospital and four others to jail.

In New York, an American Telephone & Telegraph spokesman, who asked that his name not be used, said he wouldn't argue with the union's figure on idleness except to say:

"We know it's very high, but not that high."

Also in New York, Ernest Weaver, a union director of the nationwide Western Electric telephone installers strike, came out of a mediation to tell newsmen:

"We will definitely have a long strike."

He said he based this prediction on the "amount of progress made up to now."

In reply, Western Electric said: "The company can't possibly predict the duration of this strike or any other strike. We've worked very hard since Jan. 15 (when negotiations began) to reach a settlement. We are working hard now and intend to continue to work hard to reach an agreement."

Any settlement here with Michigan Bell was expected to point the way toward agreements nationally.

The CWA demanded wage boost of from 19 to 23 cents an hour. Its members average about $1.54 hourly. The company offered a $4 to $7 weekly raise, estimated at about 12½ cents hourly.

Also at issues were intercity pay differentials and job classifications.

Strike heads at Washington said picket lines now are keeping nearly 200,000 other employees off the job.

Actually, about 77,000 persons are on strike. These include 61,000 of the Bell System in Michigan, Ohio, New Jersey and Northern California and 16,000 Western Electric workers.

From state to state the strike picture varied. Many exchanges were picketed, but many others were not. In general, however, it was all orderly.

Bell managements said phone calls continued to go through although conceding that delays were frequent, particularly in areas lacking the automatic dial system.

The violence at Pittsburgh was reported to have been provoked by a picket's shouted epithet at a non-striking girl employee crossing a picket line.

Picket lines used nightsticks in a melee in front of the Bell Telephone Co. building, Patrick J. Morgan, 32, vice president of the CWA local, was hospitalized with a head laceration.

Bell Installations Picketed In Number Of Nearby Cities; Local Service Still Normal

No pickets appeared yesterday at Stroudsburg's Bell Telephone building and a Western Electric employee said his union has not told him if any will show up today.

Service in the local area continued normal. The company's staff of plant men, maintenance men and 110 telephone operators were reporting for work as usual.

An official of the company, who reported that Pittston's Bell plant was picketed yesterday and service in that city disrupted, said that if the same thing happened in Stroudsburg all calls would have to be handled by three supervisors.

The county area serviced by the Bell company never has felt the effect of an all-out strike. On previous occasions telephone operators have continued working and service was virtually normal.

Nearby cities where picketing was going on last night included

Muddy Missouri Surges Over Fifth Of South Dakota Capital

Pierre, S. D., (AP)—The mighty Missouri—now a swirling muddy sea—surged over one-fifth of this capital city last night as U. S. Army Engineers said the flooding river may have reached its greatest height.

Some 1,600 had left sudden homes in the worst flood here in recent history.

Downstream, the "Big Muddy" forced itself through dikes and swept over low farm land near South Sioux City, Neb. The big Sioux City, Iowa, stock yards were expected to be flooded. Hundreds of farm families were forced out.

A reading at Pierre showed the river was apparently holding at slightly more than 25 feet—some ten feet over the flood point.

Led by Pierre Mayor John Griffin, sandbag crews were apparently winning a two-day struggle to keep the silt-filled floodwater from swamping the city's two-million dollar power plant.

Normally between two and three blocks wide at the twin cities of Pierre and Ft. Pierre, the Missouri has grown to about a mile in width—swelled by the winter's fast-melting snow and ice.

The main Pierre business district had "closed shop." Some 120 blocks of this city of 5,700 were under water. All of Ft. Pierre, population 700, was inundated.

The fourth and last Pierre well was flooded early yesterday, but a several days' supply of drinking water remained in reservoirs. The food supply appeared adequate for many days.

Plant Closings Cost One Million Tons Of Steel

Pittsburgh, (AP)—Smoke billowed from steel plant stacks across the nation yesterday as the industry speeded its comeback from the shutdown it imposed in the face of a threatened nationwide strike.

From every section of the land reports showed major steel companies are gathering speed in efforts to restore normal production. Their steel is badly needed for defense and by the civilian steel-consuming factories.

The steel shutdown was called off when the government seized the industry and the CIO United Steelworkers cancelled a scheduled Wednesday strike.

Steel plant closings cost one million tons of lost production, according to an estimate by Iron Age, metal working trade journal. That's roughly half of what steel output has been in recent weeks.

Not until week's end will the last furloughed steelworkers be put back to work and the last sign of the shutdown be wiped out. Each company is calling men back in what steel executives call "an orderly manner."

Plants Lose Second Test In Courts

Washington, (AP)—Efforts to bring quick peace to the troubled steel situation failed last night as negotiations broke up without signs of progress after day-long talks.

There was evidence, however, of less tension over the defense production situation as the government lifted its ban on steel deliveries. These were frozen before President Truman seized the industry Tuesday night and a threatened strike was called off.

None of the bitterness aroused between the government and the steel owners seemed to have diminished. In court lawyers for the steel industry angrily accused the government of "stalling" as Federal attorneys succeeded in a move to delay a quick legal test of President Truman's right to seize the mills.

Government officials met with leaders of the steel industry and union representatives in an effort at a quick settlement of the issues that brought on the strike. After their long session, spokesmen for both sides declined to indicate how the conference is going but another meeting was called for 10 a.m. today.

In U.S. district court, Judge David A. Pine upheld government objections against an immediate hearing of the dispute.

Judge Pine said that under court rules he had no choice but to give the government at least 20 days to reply to the companies' suits for a permanent injunction against seizure.

It was the second setback in less than 24 hours for the steel companies in their legal skirmishing to overthrow Truman's order for Federal operation of the strike-threatened industry.

The companies lost the first round of an expected long-drawn court battle Wednesday when Judge Alexander Holtzoff refused to grant their plea for a temporary restraining order to bar the government from the steel plants.

In other swift-breaking developments:

One—Secretary of Commerce Sawyer, named by President Truman as boss of the government-seized mills, sought to allay industry fears that he would give the steelworkers an immediate pay boost and perhaps approve a union shop contract.

"For the time being," Sawyer told a news conference, "existing (pay rates and working) conditions will continue, as far as I am concerned."

That implied that for the time being at least the workers will get the same wages as before the government took over the mills, pending the outcome of new labor-management negotiations.

Two—President Truman brushed off an industry leader's charge that he seized the mills in "a corrupt political deal" with the CIO. Truman declined to comment on the charge at his news conference.

Three—However, CIO President Philip Murray lashed back at the "ideal" assertion by Clarence B. Randall, president of Inland Steel Co., denouncing it as "an insult to President Truman and me." He called Randall "a prevaricator of the lowly type."

Meanwhile, negotiations between industry leaders and the CIO Steelworkers Union broke up last night without any sign of progress. "We're still on dead center," a union official said, indicating that nothing had changed since the pre-seizure negotiations collapsed in New York on Tuesday.

President Benjamin Fairless of U.S. Steel and CIO President Philip Murray—both present at the talks led by Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman—declined to say how the peace parleys were going.

Fairless said he was returning to Pittsburgh, but Vice President John Stephens of U.S. Steel indicated that industry representatives have not given up hope for a settlement.

"We're coming back," Stephens told newsmen.

With the industry's fires roaring back to life again, Secretary of Commerce Sawyer instructed the National Production Authority late in the day to lift its ban on steel deliveries.

The NPA had frozen deliveries in advance of last Tuesday's strike threat.

70 Children Participate In Egg Hunt

Delaware Water Gap — Some 70 youngsters of the local school, and pre-school age children, scrambled to their heart's content on the lawn at the Presbyterian Church Wednesday in search of Mr. Bunny's gifts.

Top winners, who gathered more eggs than their juvenile companions, included David Chamberlin, Sandra Carlton and Nancy Ace. All youngsters received a prize and chocolate egg.

The youngsters, even while enjoying themselves, didn't neglect two classmates who were confined to General Hospital. Darrell Hooper and Allen Hinehart both wore receipts of baskets made by the children.

Committee in charge of the hunt, sponsored by the local PTA, included Mrs. Earl Carlton, chairman; Mrs. Paul Martin, Mrs. Charles Dutt, Mrs. William Miller and Mrs. John Jennings Sr.

Glenn L. Martin's Ouster Reported

Baltimore, AP—The Baltimore Sun says Glenn L. Martin, pioneer aircraft builder, has been ousted from active management of the Glenn L. Martin Co. because of "financial ailments" suffered by the big Baltimore plant.

The Sun said the action was taken this week in the nation's capital at the start of a two-day meeting of new financial interests.

It listed those interests as the Mellon National Bank, the Chase National Bank of New York, the National City Bank of New York, and the Baltimore National Bank.

Communications Strikes Hamper Florists Placing Or Receiving Easter Flower Orders

The strike of telegraph union employees put a blight on one of America's hardy perennials this year—the flowering of love by long distance.

During recent years Americans have relied on "flowers by wire" to give their love and respects to mama, sick friends and sweethearts. This practice came to a halt this week with the first major telegraphers' strike since 1919.

Ordinarily the florists would fall back on the relatively simple procedure of placing all orders in other cities by long-distance phone call.

This week, however, the telephone workers' walkout curtailed the alternative.

Despite the stacking of the cards against them, florists in Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg were doing "good business" yesterday.

Two florists had had good luck in placing their orders by long distance to New York, New Jersey and other parts of Pennsylvania. Each handled more than a dozen "outgoing" orders during the course of the business day yesterday.

In addition to their "good luck" in putting through phone calls, the florists had had incoming orders placed through the mail by air mail and special delivery.

Servicemen now serving overseas were responsible for some of the orders received by mail.

Although it was not possible to send orders by telegram all requests for the delivery of flowers in other cities were being handled with a minimum of delay, florists indicated.

Grade Pupils To Give Play

Portland — Pupils of the local school will present an original play next Thursday when the Parent Teachers Association convenes at the school at 8 p.m.

Date for the session was changed, due to the Easter vacation. A hat social will feature the social hour. Ballet dancing by Miss Barbara Apple will contribute to the program. Mothers of fifth grade students have charge of the meeting and Mrs. Fred Heinsch, president, will preside.

Dr. Harold S. Pond will be out of town from April 7 to April 15. —Adv.

Mrs. Long Dies At Netcong, N. J.

Mrs. May Siekler Long, of Netcong, N.J., died at 4 a.m. yesterday at her home. She is survived by her husband, John Long.

Funeral services will be held Monday at 1:30 at the home in Netcong, and interment will be in the Ansonmink Cemetery about 3 p.m.

At present the only North American cities with underground rapid transit systems are New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Chicago.

Our Honor at Stake

The United States cannot go back on its word. It cannot make promises and break them. It cannot forfeit the respect and confidence of the free world.

For that reason, the issue of involuntary repatriation of war prisoners in the Korean peace talks is basic. Far more is at stake than the lives of 20,000 Oriental POW's who have renounced Communism—although that should be enough.

It is a question of international morality. In defense of that principle, we have elected to oppose Communism—international immorality. If our word is not good, we might as well quit now.

Thousands of enemy soldiers have come into our lines carrying surrender pamphlets promising food, clothing and fair treatment. It is not enough to say we did not promise them permanent sanctuary.

The average POW thought we did promise sanctuary. We encouraged him to think so. We encouraged him to renounce Communism. He would not have surrendered if he had thought otherwise.

Now, belatedly, the Communists promise amnesty to all POW's in our hands—even those who have tattooed anti-Red slogans on their bodies. This has all the earmarks of a buildup for a phony deal.

Chairman Richard Russell of the Senate Armed Services Committee, is one who isn't fooled. Such a promise, he says, "isn't worth a damn."

Rep. Walter Judd, a former medical missionary in China, says to accept the Communist offer would be "an admission that a Communist's word is good and ours is worth nothing." If we buy that, Dr. Judd says, "no one in Asia ever again will—or ought—trust the United States."

Washington Report

—by Fulton Lewis, Jr.

Washington—The Russian government has the stage set for an international proposal to swap peace for foreign trade. Secretary of State Dean Acheson and the new U. S. Ambassador to the Soviet Union, George Kennan, are waiting in the wings for a well-timed entrance. Their cut will be hinged on the progress made by the State Department, the United Nations and the Kremlin in softening up the American people to accept Russian good-will in exchange for tools, machinery and raw materials.

The Soviet proposal jibes with the current administration party line that Mr. Truman has been peddling along with his Secretary of State. Both keep on harping that their only device is world peace and that it can be obtained if skeptical Americans, including the Republican party, will quiet down while the geniuses continue their work.

The Kremlin's current global trade pounce, which is being attended by a number of American citizens, is the first move in a well-planned propaganda campaign to soften up the west. Russia, for all her ground grabbing in Europe and Asia, needs machines and technical instruments from countries outside the iron curtain. She wants consumer goods for a restless population, and by her actions admits that the trade blockade has hurt.

Coupled with the International Trade session is a peace propaganda drive that has Secretary of State Acheson grinning with delight. Via the government of India, Great Britain and the U. S. are being coaxed into a big power peace parley.

Acheson and Mr. Truman have always been ready to exchange child-chat with Premier Stalin face to face, but so far have been unable to convince the American people that we won't be robbed blind again by the Russians. The British have been cheering them on. Now however, there is a new approach to the problem.

Instead of the heads of state attending an international gabfest, the Soviets will soon make a spectacular approach to the United Nations for a peace and prosperity meeting. U. N. officials are just as happy over the prospects as Mr. Truman and Secretary Acheson. Such a move would revitalize the U. N. as well as provide new fodder for the administration's propaganda effort to convince the voters that peace is

The decision we face is a hard one. Thousands of Americans—our sons, husbands, neighbors and friends—are held in North Korea and China. We are desperately tired of the Korean war. We want it over—now.

But peace without honor is no peace at all. And there is no honor in a peace which breaks our word, sells a trust, sends other men to certain death and torture. It is a tough decision—but there is only one choice.

We cannot buy peace with treachery. We only buy our own destruction. As Dr. Judd warns, "every life saved with that kind of deal will be paid for with a great many more."

The people of the U. S.—decent, right-thinking people—must make this crystal clear to the befuddled minds in the State and Defense Departments. Lives and morality transcend everything—including military necessity. The solemn word of the United States cannot be dishonored.

The Incredible Future

Why not take time off for a few minutes from worrying over the affairs of the immediate present and give a little thought to the incredible future being planned for us?

For example, what about that 2500 miles-an-hour airplane being built by the Boeing company in Seattle, whereby it is expected to fly through the air with the greatest of ease at a speed that could lift us from coast to coast in just about 60 minutes.

While the Boeing company is building the airplane, the big Pratt and Whitney plant in Connecticut is working on the development of the nuclear power plant for it, and the Navy is deep in its plans for an atomic-powered submarine.

Maybe the future is only as incredible as the capacity of our imaginative minds.

Broadway and Elsewhere

—By Jack Lait

April Showers—Pre-Easter show business, always lean, was even poorer than usual last week. Variety reports the legit houses did 70 percent of capacity, as against 79 percent the preceding week and 80 percent in the same period in 1951—very bad. "Three Wishes for Jamie" did best in the newcomer list. "Constant Wife" closed with a small profit and will tour next year. The Oliviers will depart with their Cleopatras this week. "The Brass Ring" opens tonight. The big musicals stood up sturdily, though not all sold out.

Next week will see the town overrun with conventions. But the out-of-towners do not scatter their patronage enough. Almost all have their ideas in advance—they want the big smashers. And most of them go for the song-shows. That may be blamed on—or credited to—the syndicated columns. There is little else widely published around the map about the B'way "flesh" productions. So the strangers flock in with preconceived designs on the houses that are selling out month after month, and the fair draws are snubbed, though they get some cabbage as second choices.

Next week will find in our midst, for instance, conclaves of such bodies as Modern Network Synthesis Symposium, North Atlantic Regional Conference for Agricultural Education, American Society for Testing Materials, International Association of Medical Museums, Eastern Claims Conference, etc. Most of the visitors will casually appear, after they get here, for "good" seats where there are no seats, and go away muttering, "If I'd offered that fellow in the cage a bribe, I bet he'd have found tickets."

The most heart-warming box-office success of the late entries is "Mrs. McThing," with Helen Hayes, by Mary Chase, even more whimsical than her "Harvey." This was frankly an experiment, with doubts that it would turn out "commercial." But it equaled "The Fourposter," one of the season's knockouts, doubled "Stalag 17" and passed "Venus Observed" and "The Shrike." Of course, all these are far along in runs. A U. S. ruling raising the tax rates on advance sales has cut sharply into all grosses and the industry is trying to devise means of circumventing or counteracting the gimmick.

Four out of 10 families in the United States use a household budget. Of these, one out of three admits failure to live within it.

Ducks, geese and hens were man's domestic companions long before the dawn of written history.

These Days - - By George E. Sokolsky

New York market for a lot of office space for the Voice of America, which apparently has a long life expectancy beyond anything yet known to the American taxpayer.

The Voice of America wants to lease-purchase 500,000 feet of office space, 30,000 feet of which is to be double-ceiling height studios. This space may be leased from 5 to 25 years. The plan includes a proposal "... for acquisition of title to such properties and structures by the United States at or before the expiration of the lease terms." Maybe all this is the usual language of the Administration in getting office space, but it looks like eternal tenure.

It is desirable that the entire area be air-conditioned, although it would seem that the amount the government is willing to pay, would not quite make this possible, so they propose to air-condition the double-ceilinged studios. The office space is to be in the most expensive part of the city, near the private broadcasting stations.

This is a very interesting announcement because it indicates that the "Voice of America" expects to be in business a long time, although many doubt its usefulness, including members of Congress who can vote it out of existence. Precisely why does the "Voice" need so much space in overcrowded New York? What will they do with it? How many persons will they have to hire to utilize that space? What do they intend to do with the space they already occupy?

The curious thing about it all is that in spite of a budget approaching $100,000,000,000, nobody thinks of economizing. Economy is as important as efficiency although they are really parts of the same idea. The Hoover Reports, it is said, are 50 per cent implemented, yet there is no evidence in the budget of any economy. The Hoover Reports were designed for increased efficiency and considerable economy. There is no evidence of either.

The Hoover Post Office recommendations have apparently been discarded. Efficiency is abandoned like an alien disease. The Post Office gives every evidence of decreased efficiency without providing any realistic evidence of economy.

In a big city like New York, where there are 8,000,000 inhabitants and which is a hub of world business and finance, the Post Office is being sabotaged by the officials in Washington. It is not unusual for a businessman to telephone to ask whether a letter sent this day before had actually arrived. Not only are deliveries inadequate, but collections are delayed.

The other day, I stopped a couple of letter carriers on the street to ask them why letters are so slow in motion. One said to me: "Ask Jim Farley!"

Maybe I am slow-witted but I thought that Jim Farley had been out of the Post Office these many years. But the letter-carrier explained that there had been nobody in it with any common sense since Jim left.

It was direct testimony about the confusion in a government department that used to be the pride of the country. A two-cent stamp would carry a letter anywhere in our fair land through rain, snow, sleet and the heat of summer. Now, it costs more and it moves at snail's pace. And it is not the fault of the hard-working mail clerks or the carriers or the rural postmen. It is the career men who sit in Washington and sabotage improvement. The Post Office rejected the Hoover Commission's recommendations.

What can the "Voice of America" say about that with or without the additional 500,000 feet of expensive space in the heart of New York? Or, what are they telling the people of India or Ceylon or Jugoslavia or wherever it is they try to make their voice heard about what the President said to his Attorney General at the Washington airport?

We shall probably have to continue to suffer waste and extravagance and futile government activities until January 30, 1953, when we are to have a new Administration. Little can be achieved before then, except to investigate, to expose, to get angry.

Of course, it is always possible that there will be no improvement after January 30, 1953.

Try And Stop Me

Harold Williams, dean of executives of the American News Company, complained to his doctor that he was seeing spots in front of his eyes instead of discount schedules. "You are a bit run down," confirmed the doctor. "I suggest you cut down for a while on your golf and get in a good, healthy day at the office every now and then."

In the Jesse James era of the wide open spaces a man accused of horse thieving was lynched by a mob. The next day it was discovered that the wrong man had been hanged. His contrite executioners wiped away vagrant tears, and ordered a tombstone for the poor fellow's grave, with this inscription engraved thereon: "Lynched by mistake. The joke's on us."

Hollywood

—by Gene Handsaker

Hollywood—What do you think of American men? That's always supposed to be a good question to ask a foreign-born actress. But from Hildegard Neff, the provocative German enigma, it got this sequel:

"Why do American men ask, 'What do you think of American men?' Do you need assurance?" When she returned to Germany after a previous stay in Hollywood, Miss Neff continued, nobody asked her what she thought of American men. They asked political questions and what she thought of America in general.

Miss Neff doesn't categorize lovers by nationalities. "The individual is what counts," she observed. "Love is the only international language. It's something everybody understands. Why should we limit it to languages, upbringing, background and goodness knows what?"

"If you talk too much about such things, you have less time to do them. Which doesn't mean the whole thing is to be a silent picture. Sound tracks are all right."

Miss Neff, 26, is tallish and blonde. Reminds you, especially in profile, of Ginger Rogers. American audiences are meeting her in "Decision Before Dawn," in which she played a fallen nice girl in wartime Berlin.

She's now a countess, in a low-cut black gown with lots of artificial diamond trimmings, in "The Snows of Kilimanjaro."

Divorced from an American soldier, Kurt Hirsch, she is reported to be the romantic interest of Anatole Litvak, who produced and directed "Decision" in Germany.

Looking At Life

—by Erich Brandeis

"Have you ever been sorry that you stopped commuting to New York?" asks a reader from Wayneboro, Pa.

The reason for the question is that she—although she does not say so in so many words—wants her husband to retire, but is afraid to confront him with her desire unless she is reassured that he won't regret it.

By "commuting to New York" the lady means, of course, holding down an eight-hour-a-day job.

No, I have never been sorry for a single moment that I retired from commuting, although I cannot for a moment maintain that retiring from an office job is the same thing as retiring altogether.

If you think that writing 312 columns a year—each, if possible, on a different subject is "retiring"—try it some time and see. This year is particularly hard for me. It being Leap Year I have to write 313 columns and, incidentally the one I wrote for February 29th—the extra one—just about answers my Wayneboro friend's question.

It was about that seventy-year-old Metropolitan Arena extra who said "To do small things right, that is fine, too."

To A White House Dog—Dear Fala: Sleep well tonight, close to your master. Not too well, of course, for a dog has to perk his ears at a sound or a rustle in the darkness and open an eye lazily to a familiar sight. Put your funny head between your paws, face the boss, as a dog loves to do, even in sleep. Enjoy pleasant dreams, including the wonderful poom dream in which you hear a whistle, a footfall on the gravel path, a snap of fingers or a slap of hand on knee, and romp to a window to see a master or mistress, absent only an hour, but seemingly gone a year!

Rest, Fala, in the surpassing comfort only a dog knows when there's a home-coming and a reunion with a loved one. Dead? How silly! Your tail wags as of old at familiar sounds, creaks, voices, whispers. Your eyes still see ... you can scamper after a ball, yes, and growl at any skeptic's suggestion it's all in spirit form, a matter of ectoplasms. There is some distance, true, between the master's grave in the rose garden, and yours ... but you will feel a warm hand reach out often to touch you "again and again" ... you will lick his wrist and nuzzle his knee. Let foolish humans scoff that those are ghostly chairs and spectral sofas as you leap from one to another; you know better.

Now, Fala, you can frolic through the ages and never be tired, or hear a "that's enough," "go lie down!" or "be quiet, mutt!" Yours are now the starways and corridors of eternity. Your dog-run spans the everlasting hills. The fields through which you scamper are peopled by countless children, each with a stick to throw! No more waiting for somebody to open a door! ... yours is now the dream world of all dogs ... a world without a door or a barrier. You have the heavens to romp across at will, awaiting nobody's convenience. The rules are off, Fala ... you can dig up the grandest bulbs, root in the loveliest of flowerbeds, chase a thousand celestial letter-carriers a day! Yes, and in a dog's paradise there are, of course, miles and miles of fringe to chew, gossamer draperies to tug at, rugs to shake, towels to destroy! And slippers? I'll bet you never dreamt of so many, all the master's size, too!

You can do one thing now you could never do deliberately before, lose your head and romp so heedlessly behind a table that you get tangled in the electric cord and drag the lamp to the floor. Look at all those tables and lamps in a dog's heaven! ... there must be a million ... cords dangling all over the place! ... Get going, Fala! ... Shoot the works! ... Bang! ... Wham-mm-mm ... Crash! ... It's only priceless bric-a-brac! ... And the wonderful thing is that whenever you pull over a $1,000 lamp, an angel "sets 'em up in the other alley!"

You were deaf in the last days, Fala ... But you hear now ... The voices you loved rings clearly again ... A lot of folks didn't understand the master ... You always did ... Some people were irritated by his laughter, but not you ... Nothing he ever did exasperated you or tested your patience ... Humans are funny that way ... Dogs never are ... There's the long-missed whistle, Fala! ... Come a'runnin'!

The purpose of that Russian trade conference is, many nations suspect, to "give 'em the business." Joe DiMaggio, in his baseball video debut, is wunnerful ... Walter Winchell has his critics, but there are few who have not envied him his vitality, his gusto and his zeal ... His trouble is simple to diagnose; he had only enough vitality for five or ten men and could never hear the words "relax" or "take it easy, kid" ... What he has done and is doing for cancer sufferers is a matter for cheers and hat doffings ... Drew Pearson takes his hour on radio, but W.W. will be back strong and soon ... The American Auto Association says a poll at an antique auto show showed 317 out of 661 said they would like to crank the car again.

Her Hollywood leading men have been Ty Power, in "Diplomatic Courier," and Gregory Peck, in her present film. "If I were to judge American men by these two," said Hildegard, "I would be raving the rest of the day."

Instead, she had to go then into a love scene with Peck. The tall Californian came striding across the set and took the German girl in his arms. They seemed to speak the international language, as she called it, without the slightest accent.

Eldred, Hamilton School Boards To Confer With State Agency

Final Plans For Buildings To Be Aired

Two Monroe County school districts have been invited to attend meetings in Harrisburg for the final preparation of plans for new school buildings financed through the State Public School Building Authority. It was announced yesterday by County Superintendent of Schools John C. Litts.

Both Eldred and Hamilton Townships will attend separate meetings this month at the office of R. C. Bartman, executive director of the authority.

The Eldred meeting will take place on April 16 at 2 p.m. in Bartman's Harrisburg office. At that time Eldred school directors, the board solicitor, the school architect and Litts will make preparations for the final phase leading to the township's new building.

The School Building Authority recently approved funds in the amount of $150,660 for Eldred's purposes. This is a maximum figure and the State will finance only up to that amount. The building may cost any amount less than that.

Hamilton school board members have been notified that their meeting is to be held Monday, April 28, at 3 p.m., at Bartman's office. The board members, solicitor, architect and additional interested personnel are again invited to attend.

The State authority has approved a maximum of $265,388.40 in funds for the Hamilton Township school.

Barrett Grade School Pupils Give Program

Barrett—A special Easter program was presented by pupils of the fourth, fifth and sixth grades of the township school Wednesday morning.

A play entitled "The Pink Egg" was given by students of the fourth grade. Participating were Meredith Monica, Joan Wilson, Donna Rake, Maryetta DeFuria, Zandy Hulbert, John Blac, Stanley Seese, Bobby Bessecker and Alberta Bevan. The Easter story, written by Cathy Ford, was retold by Grace LaBar.

"Wanted, an Easter Rabbit" was the title of a play presented by sixth grade students. Cast included Barbara Hulbert as the teacher, and Mary Lou Huntsinger, Carolyn Hay, Judy Snyder, Joyce Siglin, Margy Larkin, Darinda Britton, Judy Mazurik, Ida Seese, David Bixler and David Henry as pupils.

Fifth grade rendered a play "The New Easter Bunny." Participants were James Hardy, Janis Peters, Richard Heckman, James Fish, Frank Doll, Billy Manos, Leon Heater, Joseph Harrison, Tommy Bridge, Jerry Williams, Verne LaBar, Tracy Gray, Kenneth Sphar and Donald Heater.

Recitations were given by Joan Cramer, Jane Snyder, Clarabelle Jones and Louise Seese. Students of the sixth grade sang and Ronald Kreckman served as announcer for plays of grades five and six.

Teachers in charge of the assembly were George Lester, Miss Mary Bush and Karl Price. Music was directed by Martin Pfeiffer with Nancy Hugenin as accompanist.

Defense Bond Sales Ahead Of Year Ago

March sales of Series E Defense Bonds totaled $34,650 in Monroe County, compared to $27,843 sold in the same period last year, it was announced yesterday by E. H. Wyckoff, county chairman.

Total E, F and G defense bonds sales for March were $41,650. In Pennsylvania, Series E purchases amounted to $23,029,202 compared to $25,242,591 sold in March, 1951. Total sales of E, F, and G bonds in the State totaled $26,950,036.

County Chairman Wyckoff said the cash value of Series E defense bonds held by individuals throughout the nation is now $34,727,000, 000, which is an all-time peak.

This figure tops by $234,000,000 the cash value of Series E holdings at the end of 1950, and is $4,000,000,000 more than the cash value of Series Es outstanding at the end of World War Two financing.

Driver Held For Court

Roseto—Charged with involuntary manslaughter, Michael Stampone, Bangor RD3, was bound over to the grand jury after a hearing here last night before Justice of the Peace Lewis Martocci.

He is free on $1,000 bond. Stampone is accused of driving a car which struck and fatally injured Grant Leon Kahler, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Kahler, as the boy played near his home last month.

Temperature Drops

Pittsburg (AP)—Winds up to 60 miles an hour lashed the Pittsburg district late yesterday but there was no heavy property damage. The temperature, which had risen to 78 degrees, dropped 13 degrees within an hour and Weather Bureau spokesmen said the drop was a forerunner of cool weather expected for Easter.

National Community Chest Executive Offers Suggestions

A three-day study of Monroe County Community Chest and Council operations produced a report filed yesterday with board of directors and the campaign committee showing the administrative costs of the local chest is lower than the national average.

Charles X. Sampson, assistant campaign and finance director of Community Chests & Council of America Inc., New York City, talked with directors and campaign committee yesterday afternoon at the YMCA building.

Mr. Sampson's critique on Chest and Council operations included a thorough study of several member agencies of the Chest and Council.

His report found all current practices sound and worthwhile. Sampson presented, however, several suggestions for additional practices which will be studied for incorporation in Chest activities, especially campaign operations.

J. Albert Groner, president of the Chest, presided at a brief meeting of the board of directors prior to the joint meeting with campaign personnel to hear Mr. Sampson.

Carlton G. Long, chairman of the Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce scrap drive committee, appeared before the board with a proposal that the Chest might take over the scrap effort as a money-raising proposition.

Directors referred the proposal to the campaign committee for further study. Walter S. Peeney, chairman of the campaign committee, had his entire group present to hear Sampson's report and to ask numerous questions concerning campaign projects throughout the nation.

During the social hour which followed, refreshments were served by Mrs. Blakeslee, Mrs. Allen Waltz and Mrs. Glenmore Hayes.

Dr. C. S. Flagler will be out of town April 13 to 27.—Adv.

County Signs Contract For Vote Machines

A contract for purchase of 21 voting machines was signed by commissioners yesterday.

The price, $1,219 each, f.o.b. Jamestown, N. Y. This was $8 lower than the price quoted by the Automatic Voting Machine Co. a few weeks ago.

The contract includes an option giving commissioners the right to buy an additional 14 machines at the same price. The option expires April 1, 1953.

Payment for the machines will be made within 30 days after all of the 21 have been delivered. Commissioners elected to make the payment in cash. The money will come out of the county's general fund, and insurance will be handled by the county.

The first 13 machines are expected at the courthouse Monday. They will be distributed to election houses so that voters may practice on them during the primary elections April 22.

Of the first batch of machines, five will go to Stroudsburg, six to East Stroudsburg, and one each to Middle Stroud and Middle Smithfield Townships.

The other eight machines purchased will be delivered by Sept. 1.

The 21 machines will be used officially for the first time at the November general elections.

Commissioners Amos F. Altomose, W. Adolph Rake and Granville Shiffer spent a portion of the day making a personal tour of election houses to arrange storage space for the machines.

Chief Clerk Harry Taylor reported the decision was to store 20 of the machines at the election houses where they will be used. The Red Cross building on the courthouse square in Stroudsburg is the only polling place where the machine will not be stored between elections. Other arrangements will be made in this case, Taylor said.

Storage at election houses will be at no cost to the county.

County Assessor Receives Books For Distribution To Officials In 29 Districts

The county's 29 new assessment books were delivered yesterday to Chief Assessor George Smith. They will be turned over to local assessors early next week.

Smith, in a letter to local assessors, is giving instructions to list the total number of taxable properties or "units" in each local district.

When the information is returned, Smith will compile the total number of taxable properties in the county. Evidently no such figure has been available at the court house in previous years.

There will also be a total for the number of persons subject to occupational taxes in the county.

The lists of occupations and respective assessments on them will be included in the letters to local assessors. There are no changes from last year in the rates of occupational assessments.

New legislation sets the deadline for this year's assessments as August 1, a month earlier than in other years.

M. E. Leffler To Attend C. D. School

M. Eugene Leffler, Delaware Water Gap, will attend the Civil Defense training school at Ogontz Center starting April 14. It was reported yesterday.

Assistant Director Jack Anderson of the county C.D. office, said the two-week course is to train C.D. instructors. Tuition and board are paid by State and Federal C.D. funds.

Anderson said the county office is urging township and borough C.D. directors to submit the names of other persons interested in attending the course. The full course is repeated every two weeks.

State Fixes Cost Of STC Salary Law

The State Department of Public Instruction yesterday estimated a new salary floor in East Stroudsburg State Teachers College and 13 other such colleges in Pennsylvania would have a combined cost of about $750,000 in the next five years.

Assistant professors, associate professors, full professors and instructors will be affected by the new minimum salary law.

The payroll for instructors and professors at the colleges now runs about three million dollars a year.

The salary increase was fixed by the 1951 Legislature after a drive for mandated minimum salaries by an association of the college professors and instructors. It's the first wage floor in the history of the colleges.

Dr. Henry Klonowicz, the department's director of teacher education and certification, said, however, a 10 per cent pay boost ordered by Gov. John S. Fine for all employees last year took the edge off the college salary law.

"The across-the-board increase by the Governor removed the effect of the mandated minimum salaries for the present school term," Dr. Klonowicz said. "They will have full effect in the next school term, however."

The new law establishes a scale of minimum salaries in four different job categories, plus five annual automatic increases of $200 each. The automatic boosts will cost about $150,000 a year for the next five years.

Instructors who earned less than $3,500 a year are brought up to a minimum of $3,500 a year providing they hold a bachelor's degree and have three years of experience, including two in public schools.

Other minimums include: Assistant professors—$4,000 a year, with four years' experience, including three in public schools, plus a master's degree.

Associate professor—$4,500 a year, with five years' experience, including four in public schools, plus a doctor's degree.

Professor—$5,000 a year, with seven years' experience, including four in public schools, plus a doctor's degree.

Teachers colleges are limited by the law to classifying not more than 30 per cent of their teaching personnel as professors.

Delaware Trucks Must Conform To State Weight Law

Harrisburg (AP) — Delaware-licensed trucks will have to conform to Pennsylvania's 45,000-pound weight limit law after April 30.

Maj. E. J. Henry, State Police traffic officer, disclosed yesterday that cancellation of a Pennsylvania-Delaware agreement resulted in orders to State Police to enforce the 45,000 weight limit on trucks licensed in Delaware after that date.

Otto F. Messner, secretary of revenue, cancelled the 1938 agreement as discriminatory. Under it, Delaware trucks could carry 60,000 pounds on Pennsylvania highways.

At Dover, Del., the Delaware Motor Vehicle Commission said Pennsylvania authorities cancelled the agreement after hundreds of Pennsylvania truckers came to Delaware to buy licenses so they could carry the heavier load.

25 Hunters Met Death During 1951

Harrisburg (AP) — The State Game Commission yesterday reported an official hunting death toll of 25 persons last year—nine more than the year previous.

Another 396 persons suffered non-fatal wounds in hunting accidents in the Commonwealth. This was 63 less than in 1950.

Of those killed while afield last year, 14 died during the small game season while 11 met death during big game hunting. The report also showed nine of those died from self-inflicted wounds.

The commission also released its first official report of the game kill last year. It showed a bag of 34,582 antlered deer, compared with 23,302 in 1950. The antlered deer kill totaled 37,952, compared with 31,515 the year previous.

The kill last year for other game (1950 kill in parentheses):

Bears, 429 (354); rabbits, 1,258,246 (1,553,968); hares (snowshoes), 1,506 (1,445); Hungarian partridges, 69 (15); squirrels, 541,158 (546,574); raccoons, 99,413 (74,649); wild turkeys, 8,862 (5,278); woodchucks, 238,314 (251,648); doves, 8,215 (10,533).

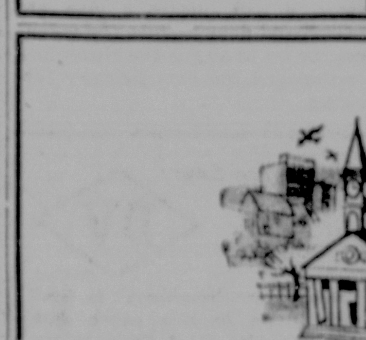

Ruffed grouse, 45,250 (36,403); ringneck pheasant, 385,598 (353,279); quail, 7,363 (4,461); woodcock, 14,409 (17,500); rails, gallinules and coots, 6,755 (4,025); wild waterfowl, 56,529 (52,519); woodchucks, 238,314 (251,648); doves, 8,215 (10,533).

Mrs. FDR Visits New White House

Washington (AP) — Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt revisited the White House yesterday and found the remodeled mansion more livable than during the 12 years she called it "home."

Mrs. Roosevelt was invited by Mrs. Harry S. Truman to come and look it over.

"All the dignity of the White House has been kept, but it is now more attractive, lighter and brighter," said Mrs. Roosevelt.

ROAD TO RESURRECTION

Illustrated by Alfred J. Buescher

"Then the soldiers of the governor took Jesus into the common hall. . . And they stripped Him, and put on Him a scarlet robe. And when they had plaited a crown of thorns, they put it upon His head, and a reed in His right hand; and they bowed the knee before Him, and mocked Him, saying, Hail, King of the Jews! Matthew 27: 27-29.

"And as they came out, they found a man of Cyrene, Simon by name: him they compelled to bear His cross. And when they came unto a place called Golgotha, that is to say, a place of a skull, they gave Him vinegar to drink mingled with gall: and when He had tasted thereof, He would not drink." Matthew 27: 32-34.

"And it was the third hour, and they crucified Him. And the superscription of His accusation was written over, THE KING OF THE JEWS." Mark 15: 25, 26.

Methodist Charge To Hold Service

Final Holy Week service of the Anamink Methodist Charge will be held at 8 p.m. today in the Wooddale Church, Rev. Ralph H. Feltham, pastor, announced yesterday.

In addition to Communion service, a large class of young people from the Sunday school and several adults will be admitted to full membership, Mr. Feltham said.

The minister said sunrise Easter services will be held in the Mt. Zion Methodist Church on Easter morning at 6.

Two Churches To Conduct Service Today

Today from noon to 2:30 p.m. a special devotional service will be held in the First Presbyterian Church of Stroudsburg. The Presbyterian Church and the Zion Reformed Church are combining their efforts, in presenting this service with the theme centered around "The Seven Last Words."

An organ meditation will begin at noon and continue until 12:20, when consideration will be given to Christ's last words from the cross. Rev. Ernest T. Campbell will be assisted in this service by Rev. Frank Blatt, Zion Reformed Church; Rev. Frank Wingerter, East Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church; Rev. Hubert D. Newton, Delaware Water Gap; Robert Bradburn, Shawnee; and Alex Crossan Jr., Middle Smithfield Presbyterian Church.

Appropriate music will be by a combined Presbyterian Reformed choir, with Mrs. Alberta Yutz as soloist.

Invitation is extended to all who would like to attend the service, to drop in at any time during this period. Friends may come and go any time between 12:00 and 2:30.

Mr. and Mrs. George Huguenin and children Richard and Bobby were weekend guests of Mrs. Huguenin's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. Westley Riday, of Queens Village, Long Island.

Johnny and Mike O'Neil and Mr. and Mrs. J. Quarimley are visiting Mr. and Mrs. S. O'Neil of Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Besecker and daughter, Brenda of Cherry Valley were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Meyung.

Katie and Stewart Kreck are visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Kreck, of Phoenixville.

Reformed Consistories Elect Rev. Bohner To Presidency

Kunkletown—St. Matthew's Church here was the scene recently of the second annual banquet of the consistories of the Brodheadsville-Hamilton charge of the Evangelical and Reformed Church.

Rev. Adan Bohner was elected president; Edgar Hamm, vice president and George Costenbader, secretary-treasurer for his 25th consecutive year.

William Slutter and Robert Bitenbender were named delegates primarius and secundus respectively to the synod which will hold its next meeting in the form of a banquet at the local church April 26, 1953.

Rev. Bohner outlined activities during the year and expressed his appreciation for the gift and celebration given him on his 25th anniversary. He also announced he officiated at 31 funerals, 11 for members of the church; baptized 34 persons and officiated at 15 weddings during the year.

Edward Longshore, representing Hamilton Church, with nine members in attendance, reported acquisition of a tract of land adjoining the church and the bequest of $8,000 fund during 1951.

A trust fund of $12,500 and presentation of three sets of altar cloths, white, purple and green, were noted by the Mt. Eaton Church during the year, Frank Shick disclosed.

A new building plan to add to the church has been launched at Brodheadsville, Carl Kresge revealed. He announced no acquisitions during the year since renovations were made in 1950.

Repairs totaling $12,613, all liquidated, was announced for Kunkletown Church by P. Borger. A new furnace also was installed in the parsonage which is owned and maintained by the Kunkletown Church only, he reported.

Payment of apportionment fund and contributions to World Service were announced by each church representative.

Following the dinner, served by the Ladies Aid Society to 58 persons attending, slides were shown by Dr. Percy Smith who also spoke on the work of the Evangelical Reformed Church.

Ministerium To Broadcast Meditations

The Monroe County Ministerial Association will join forces with radio station WVPO today to present a two-hour devotional service built around the seven words of Christ from the cross. The program will run from 1:05 to 3 p.m.

Seven clergymen from the community will present meditations. Those participating include Rev. Frank Blatt, Rev. Walter Johnston, Rev. Adan Bohner, Rev. Harold Eaton, Rev. Ernest T. Campbell, Rev. William Wunder, Rev. Dr. P. N. Wohlson.

The meditations will be interspersed with impressive seasonal music. A Good Friday edition of the Upper Room will also be woven in. The program has been especially designed to bring the message of this Holy Season to those who are unable to make their way to church.

Exact Origin Of Term 'Good' Friday Not Altogether Clear

God's Friday Mentioned As One Meaning

Today is the accepted anniversary of the crucifixion of Jesus Christ.

To many persons the designation of this event as "Good Friday" seems as misnomer. These persons argue that the crucifixion of Christ cannot be considered "good" in the modern definition of the word.

There are indications that the term "Good Friday" may have come about as a result of language changes—a process which has given the English language many of its common terms.

This process could, conceivably, have changed "Gottes Freitag" ("God's Friday") to the present term. The same process may have transposed "Gute Freitag" to Good Friday from the original German.

Most authorities agree it is not necessarily of Anglo-Saxon origin. Christians in early times observed every Friday as a fast day and Sunday as a feast day.

Centuries of time, however, have changed religious practices and dimmed the reasoning behind adjustments in terminology.

In the Greek liturgy the day is called the "Holy and Great Friday". In the romance languages it is called "Holy Friday" and "Sorrowful Friday" (Charfreitag) in German. The latter definition, perhaps, retains the feeling of the death of Christ more accurately than do the others.

In Denmark the day is still called "Long Friday".

A final implication, however, may be taken from the story of the Crucifixion which, in general, explain the change from a feeling of "grief" or "sorrow" to one of inherent "goodness".

Christ died to be reborn. This singular example has established itself as the strongest and most vivid of all religious phenomena. From the death and re-birth of Christ a vast and endless mountain of religious symbolism has grown.

It is in the death and rebirth of

Bangor Marks Good Friday

Bangor — Community worship services will be held from noon to 3 p. m. today in Salem Evangelical United Brethren Church.

Ministers from all faiths will participate in services which will be held at 25-minute intervals during the afternoon. The theme will be "The Seven Last Words."

Groups and individuals from the various churches will provide music for the worship which is presented under the auspices of the Ministerial Association of Bangor.

Happy Is The Day When Backache Goes Away . . .

Nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness may be due to slow-down of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When some everyday condition, such as stress and strain, causes this important function to slow down, many folks suffer nagging backache—feel miserable. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages. Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Most Businesses To Cease Operations During Good Friday Services From Noon To 3 P. M.

Virtually complete cessation of business throughout Monroe County from noon to 3 p. m. today is expected to bring the greatest outpouring of worshippers in many years to Good Friday services in every section of this region.

The weatherman last night called for cloudy and cooler today with some rain, or perhaps snow in the mountain region. Weather, however, is not expected to be a deterrent to church attendance.

The clergy, in many instances collaborating with each other, have arranged traditional Good Friday services dealing with the Seven Last Words on the Cross.

Memorials Presented To Church

Tannersville — A communion table presented as a memorial to the late Mrs. Clara Alger and installation of new lights, gifts of Horace Raish and S. B. Howell are the latest additions to the Methodist Church here. It was announced at a meeting of the Official Board and workers at the parsonage.

Various reports were submitted and Rev. LeRoy Bernier, pastor, announced special Easter service for the entire charge, with the rites scheduled for the local church. Regular service will occur at 8:30 a. m., followed by Sunday School and entertainment by the children.

Mrs. Bernier served refreshments following the meeting. Attending were Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Howell, A. J. Christine, Mrs. Horace Werkheiser, Mr. and Mrs. Myles Dailey and Mrs. B. H. Granacher.

the son of God combined that the English-speaking world has found foundation for its designation of the Friday in Holy Week as "Good"—a symbol of the spiritual good to come.

In Roman Catholic churches throughout the region mass will be said at noon.

Christ Episcopal Church will have a Litany and Pentecost office at 10 a. m., with traditional three-hour services from 12 to 3 p. m.

A united Lutheran service with most churches of that denomination participating will be held at St. John's Lutheran Church, Stroudsburg from noon to 3 p. m.

First Presbyterian and Zion Reformed congregations will combine for a union service in Stroudsburg, while Stroudsburg

Methodist Church congregation will meet in its church for Good Friday services.

In East Stroudsburg the three hour devotionals will be held as a union service with all Protestant churches joining in service at Grace Lutheran Church.

In the West End section from noon to 3 p. m., Good Friday services will be held in Brodheads-ville and Trachsville. Similar services will be held in churches at Mountainhome, Canadensis and Mount Pocono.

The Anabaptist Methodist charge will have Good Friday services at Wooddale.

Soil Board Reorganizes

Donald F. deOtte, Cherry Valley, was reelected chairman of the County Soil Conservation District directors at a reorganizational meeting, it was reported yesterday.

Other officers named were: Amzi F. Altomose, Brodheads-ville, vice-chairman; Henry Yetter, Sciota, secretary-treasurer; Arlington Martin, and William R. High, both of Effort, directors. Attending the session were Arthur E. Ifft, county agent, Atlee

Spare Chicks, Bunnies SPCA Asks Parents

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals made a plea to parents not to purchase baby chicks or rabbits for the children's Easter baskets unless they are prepared to protect them from the over-zealous affection which the children naturally wish to lavish on them till they're hurt, and further unless they have definite plans for their future.

The matter was brought out at the meeting of the local SPCA held Tuesday night at the municipal building in Stroudsburg, with Mrs. Ellen Albenz, president, presiding.

Plans were announced for the benefit card party to be held Wednesday, April 16 at the Indian Queen Hotel, with Mrs. Francis Brodhead of Stroudsburg in charge of tickets, which may also be purchased at the door.

A vote of thanks was given to Mrs. Willis Goddard and Mrs. George Salvo, chairman of the successful bake sale.

Plans were also made for the observance of "Be Kind to Animals" week, May 4-10. May 4 is to be Humane Sunday, and they are asking the cooperation of ministers in the county. There will also be special radio and newspaper stories during the week. Miss Wealthy Korta is chairman of the local observance.

The May meeting will be the last open meeting until September and they are expecting to present a speaker.

Son's Born To Sicklers

Staff Sgt. and Mrs. Sherman E. Sickler, of East Stroudsburg announce the birth of a son at the General Hospital on April 3. The baby has been named Sherwin Edwin Sickler II.

The maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. J. Russell Philman of East Stroudsburg and the paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ross S. Sickler of West Pittston.

Sgt. Sickler is at present serving in Germany but expects to return early this summer.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

There's no lack of Easter trimmings about the news these days. Everything from jelly bean hunts to hat parades and Easter programs, and Easter Monday dances.

And a plea from the SPCA to parents to think twice—or maybe thrice—before they buy Easter chicks or bunnies for children who are likely to smother them with love.

And to that plea—I might add a warning—we did it one time. Bought Easter chicks. I mean—way back when the children were small. They came in assorted colors, I remember, purple and red and blue—another practice deplored by the SPCA, I understand.

However, it didn't hurt these chicks. They thrived and grew—and grew—and sprouted pin feathers—and a more naive pigeon sight than a chicken all over pin feathers and faded purple down you never saw. They outgrew the box, they outgrew the cage and started flying around the house. They outgrew the piano box we got for them outside; and outgrew the shanty we converted for their use.

Finally, in desperation, we bought nine acres to turn them loose on. I don't say that I'm sorry, but come to think about it those Easter chickens turned the whole course of our lives.

Now I wouldn't advise you not to buy them—but maybe you'd better think four times, first.

—Listen To Bobby Westbrook daily, Monday through Friday, on "The Party Line" WVPO, 10:05 a.m.

Smithfield Tri-Hi-Y Makes Toys

The Tri-Hi-Y of the Smithfield Consolidated School shared their Easter cheer with the small patients at the General Hospital. For the past two weeks they have been making Easter toys to take to the children's ward at the hospital. They made puppets and dogs from face cloths; clown bean bags and other items, arranged them on a flat tray, decorated in yellow and green.

With their advisor, Mrs. Melvin Shook, they took them to the hospital at the close of school on Wednesday to let the children who were patients there take their choice, and then left the rest for future patients.

Hat Parade Marks Sunshine Easter Party

The Sunshine class of the East Stroudsburg Methodist church brought their Easter gifts to the meeting held on Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. Harry Warwick. They presented $105 for their Easter offering, and also voted to contribute an Easter lily for the church decorations on Sunday, in memory of the two members of the class who died during the past year.

The class teacher, Mrs. Maude Stem, gave Easter readings, and Mrs. Arthur Helms spoke on the human interest story in the Resurrection.

At the business meeting, plans were made to supply a supper for the Exchange club and their guests on April 28, and members were asked to bring a 25 cent gift to the May meeting. Mrs. Vernon Garis, president, was in charge of the meeting.

A hat parade followed with Mrs. Walter Brown as pianist for the Easter parade of original creations. Prize for the prettiest hat went to Mrs. Maude Stem, for the most original to Mrs. Smiley and for the funniest to Miss Helen Grant. Mrs. Lenora Strauser, Mrs. Berenice Nauman and Miss Christensen served as judges.

Easter refreshments were served by Mrs. Elva Peters and her committee.

Pleasant Valley Missionary Groups Meet

Gilbert—The Women's Missionary Society of the Pleasant Valley Lutheran parish met in the quilling hall of St. John's church, Effort, Monday, March 31.

The topic, "Women's Work in India" was led by Mrs. Hayden Murphy and presented by Mrs. William Kunkle, Mrs. Frank Hawk, and Mrs. Leo Everitt.

Colored slides on "An India Visit" were shown and described by the president, Mrs. James Laubach.

The first four chapters of Dr. George Howard's book "We Americans: North and South" were discussed for Mission Study by Mrs. Homer Shupp, Mrs. Jonas Snyder, Miss Florence Christman and Mrs. Arlington Martin.

The business meeting was led by the president at which time a committee was named to plan for the annual reception for the Confirmation classes. On the committee are Mrs. Homer Shupp, Mrs. Hayden Murphy, Mrs. LeRoy Hinton, Mrs. Martin Serfass and Mrs. Claudia Shiffer.

A gift was sent for the "Sarah Snyder Project" to purchase slides she will take along for use in India when she returns in May.

The next meeting will be a full Mission Study session at Salem Chapel, Gilbert, April 28.

Following this announcement, refreshments were served by the ladies of the Effort church.

Baptist Missionary Society Meets

Portland—The Ladies' Aid and Missionary Society of the Baptist church held its April meeting on Thursday afternoon at the church with Mrs. Elias Jones presiding at the business meeting and also serving as hostess.

Those present were Mrs. Emeline Baker, Mrs. Pauline Busemiller, Mrs. Frank Bartron, Mrs. Ernest Courtney, Mrs. Sarah Evans, Mrs. Irvin Henry, Mrs. George Kitchen, Mrs. Harry Michaels, Miss Margaret Stone, Mrs. Philip Strunk, Mrs. E. Reimel, and the hostess, Mrs. Jones.

Air Force Sergeants Are Married

Sgt. Caroline Schaumann, of Henryville, became the bride of Tech. Sgt. Glen Smith, of Niagara Falls, N. Y., in a double ring ceremony performed Sunday, March 23, at 4 p. m. in the Zion Lutheran church, Maywood, N. J., according to announcement made here.

Rev. Gilbert H. Pfeiffer officiated.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white Chantilly lace over white satin. Her veil was softly draped from a crown of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses, with long streamers of white baby ribbon.

Miss Edith Schaefer, of Rochelle Park, N. J., was the maid of honor and wore a gown of pale blue net with matching shoes and accessories. She carried a bouquet of var-colored roses with streamers of rainbow ribbon.

The best man was Edward Peister, of Rochelle Park, and the ushers were William McNeerney, a cousin of the bride, and George Peister.

The church was filled with friends and relatives from Oneonta, Niagara Falls, Rome, Kingston, Long Island, New York and from Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

After a reception at the Club Rochelle, Mr. and Mrs. Smith left for a brief honeymoon. They have not returned to their base at Scott Air Field, Ill. Mrs. Smith is a sergeant in the Woman's Air Force, where she has been senior tab machine operator at the headquarters squadron.

In a few weeks they will be transferred to Boise, Idaho, where they will both be on recruiting duty.

Jelly Bean Hunt At Play School

A jelly bean hunt on Wednesday marked the closing day of school for the children at the Pocono Cooperative Play School, held at the Grace Lutheran church. During their milk period they had special leed cookies and at lunchtime, Easter cup cakes and colored eggs were added to their usual menu, and there were special Easter decorations at the tables.

The party was provided by their mothers and the teacher, Miss Cynthia Doan.

Pocono Club Discusses Road Signs

Tannersville—The Pocono Garden Club met at the firehouse on Tuesday afternoon, April 8, with Mrs. Millard Rice presiding. There were about fifty members and friends present, with the following visitors: Mrs. Tom Brown, Mrs. Dale Learn and the Misses Wilhemina and Dorothy Meyer. Mrs. Tom Brown was afterwards voted into membership in the club.

Mrs. Robert Stadden, chairman of the roadside beautification committee, reported she had talked with Mr. DeHaven, Historical Society leader at the school, with regard to the placing of a marker at Scotrun as a possible project for the students, but that no definite decision had been made.

She also reported her talks with the road supervisors in regard to placing a blinker at Bartonville. They are getting further information in this matter.

Mrs. John Smith reported on the progress of the flower show committee which is getting the schedules in order. The flower show will be held August 13 and 14. Mrs. Smith also reported that Mr. VanSciver, who is working with local 4-H Club, has asked to have a space reserved for their display.

Bulls which had been ordered were distributed.

Mrs. Rice asked for comments on the recent trip to the Philadelphia flower show, and Mrs. Dorothy Heller, Mrs. Estelle Grader and Mrs. Helen Kresge made interesting contributions on this matter.

On "Timely Topics," Mrs. A. H. Mathiasen illustrated on the blackboard the proper manner of penetrating roots of trees with dormant sprays, this being the proper time of year.

Mrs. Frances Besecker introduced the speaker, Mrs. Marjorie Canfield, who gave a talk on "Flower Arrangements," demonstrating with illustrations.

The Easter arrangements were judged by Mrs. Stadden and Mrs. Dunbar and the following each received 10 points: Mrs. Leon Parcell, Mrs. Dot Heller, Mrs. Daisy Allegar and Mrs. Charlotte Mathiasen. Mrs. Parcell also brought a glorioxia for the members to see. It was a hybrid plant from her collection, with 20 blooms white speckled with purple.

Mrs. Parcell has a collection of standing glorioxias in rare combinations of color. Mrs. Parcell aims to enlarge it to include various shades of red glorioxia in the future.

The hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. Grover Kresge, Mrs. Pearl Kresge, Mrs. George Niering, Mrs. Sterling Seizer, Mrs. Helen Starnar and Mrs. Harry Bond, who served ice cream and cake from a decorated table.

At the next meeting of the club, members are asked to wear the clothes in which they take care of their gardens, and it is believed this will prove a jolly meeting.

VFW Aux., Post Installation Monday Night

The Veterans of Foreign Wars and its auxiliary will hold a joint installation of officers on Monday night at 8 at the VFW home. The VFW Band will play for the installation ceremonies.

All members are invited to attend the installation and to take part in the refreshments which will be served following the program.

Returning from yesterday morning's broadcast, I found Fran Meredith on a step ladder winding ivy around the store pillars, and Marion Leedom scurrying to and fro with her arms full of daffodils. The store was being transformed into a veritable flower garden, with lilies, hydrangeas, hyacinths, tulips, azaleas, and waxen gardenias mingling their delightful colors and delicious fragrances.

I don't know how you feel about it, but to my way of thinking there's no odor in the world as wonderful as a combination of damp earth and spring flowers, and no nicer place to be at Easter than in the very middle of a floral display. I never see tulips with their heads held high without hearing the lines of the Psalm, "My cup runneth over." And one can see before him the entire story and meaning of Easter, unfolding with the petals of the lily.

Those of you who make it a part of your annual observance to have flowers in your home at Easter, will, I am sure, find that these from Wyckoff's are as lovely as any to be found anywhere. They are healthy and richly endowed with blossoms, and are priced so as to permit everyone to enjoy them. Hyacinths are being sold for as little as 60c. Lilies are $1.39 and $1.98, and the other plants come in varied prices, with the most expensive being $3.98. They are selling rapidly, of course, so if you are interested you'd better make your selection early.

Are you all ready for Easter at your house? Better take stock and be sure that nothing's overlooked. . . . The Easter candy, the grass-filled baskets waiting for the bunny, the gloves you forgot to buy last week, and the new white shirt (an Arrow, of course!) that Dad needs so badly. Today and tomorrow are the last opportunities for these final errands, you know. As the Wyckoff Shopper, I'll gladly lend a hand if you wish. Just telephone me at "489".

And one final reminder: — Wyckoff's will be closed from 12 to 3 p. m. today in order that the personnel may join with you in observing Good Friday at worship.

Dutch Club Season To Close Monday

A new star of the one-woman theater comes to the Penn-Stroud Hotel when Susan Fletcher, brilliant young actress of stage, screen and radio background, brings a varied program of dramatic sketches before the Dutch Treat Club at 6:30 p.m. Monday.

J. Albert Groner, president of the club, said the meeting will be the final of the current season. Officers are to be elected at a brief business meeting which will also receive a report on selections for the 1952-53 season of the club.

Long a favorite performer in her native Canada, Miss Fletcher is momentarily deserting the airwaves of the Canadian Broadcasting Co. Her appearances as a monologist have drawn critical comments that are tributes to her artistry not only as an actress of dramatic skill but as a writer of plays.

Miss Fletcher's inspiration for her dramatic sketches is drawn from a crowded background in various forms of entertainment.

She made her professional debut in Toronto at the age of seven. Schooling in Vienna and London as well as travel in Europe gave her a cosmopolitan polish. She was a CBS network star at 15. Theater claimed her in 1939 and she acted with New York companies. In 1941 she became engaged in a year's tour with Maurice Evans' Co. of "Macbeth."

Succumbs To Injury

Expanded Worthington Plant Fills Defense As Well As Civilian Needs

The first of a series of articles dealing with industrial operations in Monroe County is presented today by The Daily Record. Aim of the series is to acquaint our citizens with what is produced here; how it is made, the type of people and skills engaged in such production and the economic impact of each industry on this region.

By James B. Gaffney

By expanding its production facilities since the termination of World War Two, and continued research and development of defense materials and equipment, Worthington Mower Co., on Second St., in Stroudsburg, is playing a vital role in the nation's war effort while contributing to the needs of its civilian customers.

Acquired by its present owners in November, 1945, the plant has continued to expand its engineering, sales and production departments.

H. G. Sandborn Jr., vice-president and general manager said, "Our sales volume is presently many times what it was at the close of World War Two, when the plant had reached what was then considered to be a high degree of efficiency and productivity."

An estimated 30 percent of production, which keeps 375 Worthington employees working 52 weeks a year, goes into government contracts, Sandborn noted.

"Presently Worthington is furnishing artillery components, and at the same time providing a modification of its civilian large-acreage moving equipment to the Air Force, as well as the Navy and Marines," Sandborn added.

"It is significant that Worthington equipment can be found on every military airfield in the United States of America," he continued. "And on all of the airfields which our military department maintains beyond the seas you will find Worthington. This is indeed a good testimonial to the quality and stability of our equipment."

From its inception in 1913 when the late C. C. Worthington established the Shawnee Mower Co. at Shawnee-on-the-Delaware, and later incorporated it in Stroudsburg as Worthington Mower Co., the plant has increased in all phases.

As the congenial vice-president sums up the development:

"The plant has grown to the point where it now contributes in a substantial way to the economy of the whole Pocono Mountains area because the items of payroll and purchase of local facilities exceed a million dollars per annum. This is a little known fact, but nevertheless true."

A surprising factor not generally known by those unacquainted with the company and its activities, is that the concern for more than two years has been manufacturing an internal combustion engine, designed especially for Worthington mowers.

Commenting on the innovation Sandborn said "this is the same type of engine that has been standard with the Signal Corps of the U. S. Army through two wars and has proven so satisfactory, that the Signal Corps is not only purchasing all of these engines that it can get from Worthington and its affiliate, the Jacobsen Mfg. Co. Racine, Wis., but has also commissioned the Jacobsen-Worthington combination to engineer the installation of engine building plants in two other locations. This is to assure the Defense Department that an ample supply of engines will be made available to the military at all times."

Another little known, but interesting fact about Worthington Mower Co. is the part it plays in the program set up by many universities in the nation. Emphasizing the program are the universities of Massachusetts, Connecticut, Princeton, Rutgers, Purdue and Cornell. Many innovations in grass cutting and turf maintenance equipment has resulted from the research. "Worthington's skilled engineers frequently are called upon to address gatherings, not only at universities, but at conventions held by professional greenkeepers and park superintendents," Sandborn asserted.

In other related fields Worthington has developed gang mowers for pastures in cattle raising countries, and recently introduced machinery capable of effectively mowing 100 acres in eight hours.

A companion piece is a rotary saw which employs an entirely new principle of two saws rotating in opposite directions, reducing hazards incident to felling trees in the woods and later cutting them into logs.

"Our research and development department also has produced a rotary snow thrower," Sandborn said. "This equipment is capable of handling a large volume of snow and literally throwing it, under some conditions, 30 feet."

Relatively new to this section, Sandborn came here in January, 1949 from Springfield, Mass. and brought a staff of engineers and production experts who now reside in the Stroudsburgs.

Another company official, J. C. Rodewald, assistant treasurer and assistant secretary, is a long-time resident of this area and was affiliated with the originators of the business.

Worthington plays its part in publicizing the Stroudsburgs and Pocono Mountains since all of its equipment, found in all of the 48 states and in foreign countries, carries a tag reading "Made in Stroudsburg, Pennsylvania."

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Harry Schaeffer, former hurler for the Stroudsburg Poconos and a graduate of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, is scheduled to pitch for the New York Yankees against the Brooklyn Dodgers, in the opening of the City Series in Yankee Stadium. Clint Boecker, despite maintaining all winter that he was through with baseball, will pitch and play the outfield for Pocono A.C. again this season. Golf will never take the place of baseball for this fellow.

Al Nozzi, youthful infielder who failed to make the grade with the Stroudsburg Poconos a couple of seasons ago and with Bradford, of the class "D" Pony League last year, is on the Tarboro roster, of the Coastal Plain League, at the request of Manager Billy Long. Nozzi is good hit, no throw. Al made a deep impression with his bat while playing with the Poconos, but his weak arm presented the opposition with more runs than he was capable of driving across the plate.

John Platt, Mt. Pocono, was awarded a varsity wrestling letter at Lehigh University for action during the past campaign. John Minocoy, former student at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, is in a two-way scrap for the shortstop berth on the Bloomsburg State Teachers College baseball team at the present time. Minocoy transferred from ESSTC last year and just became eligible for the spring sport with the Huskies.

Harry Walton moved out in front in the Record Major League again on Wednesday, when the veteran knicker rolled a 665 match for Globe Furniture, as the team won second half honors in the 1951-1952 campaign. The 665 was high individual score for the second half, while the 2,897 pin count was also team high for the same portion of the present campaign. Walton's scores were 244, 219 and 302. Globe Furniture came up with a total of 1,908 pins in the second game.

Speaking of bowling brings to mind the fact that Wally Straub really takes the sport seriously. The member of Bill Altier's leg-kick crew raced home from Atlantic City last Thursday to take part in the regular Commercial "A" League rolling at Harmon's Recreation. Straub reportedly left Atlantic City at 9 a.m. and made the trip by train and bus, arriving at 6:48 for a match listed for 7 p.m. Straub helped to pace Bill Altier's contingent to the second-half title with a four-point victory over Eagles "A."

"Buddy" Judge is scheduled to undergo a knee operation at St. Luke's Hospital in Bethlehem on Monday. The annual sports banquet at Tobyhanna Township High School has been postponed from Tuesday, April 22, to Tuesday, May 6. It was learned yesterday, Billy Metzgar's injured hand may respond to treatment enough to allow the young southpaw hurler to resume his diamond duties with the Stroudsburg High School baseball team next week. Fred Dieffenbach, a graduate of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College and currently a member of the Curtin Junior High faculty, appears destined to become the recreational commissioner of Williamsport in the near future.

There seems to be two widely different stories circulating around the Pocono Mountains Baseball League, one that is told at the league meetings and the one that changes its cover on the outside of the meeting room. Even what this column gladly accepts as official information hasn't come close to answering the major questions that were in the minds of the circuit's following two short weeks in the past. However, the league seems set to operate, with only one major and several minor problems to be solved, now that the schedule is signed, sealed and delivered.

John "Bubba" Phillips, right fielder for the Stroudsburg Poconos for a portion of the 1948 campaign, has been listed as an outfielder who can't miss with the Detroit Tigers in the next year or two, by no less an authority than "Schoolboy" Rowe, veteran major league pitcher and minor league manager. The Junior Gold Medal and Senior YMCA basketball tournaments completed on Wednesday turned out to be a financial success. The crowd, more than 100 people, was one of the largest single night gatherings in the history of the Gold Medal Tournament in this neck of the woods.

However, as a warning to one and all, I would at this time like to point out that the post-season basketball action may be halted as of this year, unless there is some guarantee that the sportsmanship, which probably hit an all-time low this year, will improve greatly in future tournaments. The possibility of halting the tournament was brought up for serious discussion at last night's meeting of the tournament committee. There were too many near fights, too much verbal abuse and the rough tactics used in the course of several games were completely without foundation. The committee also expressed its thanks to Stroudsburg High for its use of the school's basketball court.

Williams Outstanding Player In Junior Gold Medal

Lewis, Bailey Rated Behind Cramer's Star

Floyd Williams, a member of the Cramer's Cut Rate cage machine that lost to Pocono Pines Shopping Center in the final game of the Junior Gold Medal Tournament, was named the outstanding player of the tournament last night during a meeting of the award committee at the Monroe County YMCA.

Williams played brilliantly throughout the tournament, but his work in the final game, despite the setback, earned him the "most outstanding" award.

The second best performer, in the opinion of the committee, was Norman Lewis, Pocono Pines Shopping Center, while Bill Bailey, Penn-Dell, will receive an award as the third best player in the tournament field.

Bailey also won the high scoring trophy, with a total of 74 points for the entire tournament.

Williams, Lewis and Bailey were all named to the first all-tournament team, along with Tom Bonser, Cramer's Cut Rate, and Jack Sommers, also of Cramer's contingent.

Second all-tournament team honors went to Bob Rice, Cramer's; Bill Hickey, Biggs Restaurant; Les "Butch" Cramer, Penn-Dell; Fred Blakenlee, Pocono Pines and Bill Metzgar, Penn-Dell.

Third all-tournament team selections include Dave Nevil, Newman's; Don Herman, DeVivo's Shoes; Gene Kresge, Biggs Restaurant, and Jim Fritz, Penn-Dell. Hickey also won the sportsmanship award and Harry Bailey, of Coolbaugh, took home the prize for scoring the most points in one game during the tournament, 31.

Rice was honored as the outstanding defensive player in the tournament.

Merit awards for five players of those team was eliminated in the first round went to Don France, Frank's; Fred "Skeet" Werkheiser, Tannerville; Dailey, Coolbaugh; Bob Kupiszewski, Nash Motors, and Gary "Jeep" Peckman, Summa's Clippers.

The Coolbaugh Huskies won the team sportsmanship trophy, while the final finish as far as teams were concerned featured Pocono Pines, Cramer's Cut Rate, Biggs Restaurant and Penn-Dell in that order.

Henry "Hank" Stetler won high scoring honors in the Senior YMCA Tournament, also with 74 points.

Newell's Avening Men won the tournament's top team prize and the Veterans of Foreign Wars finished second.

Seven Rookies With Pirates

Memphis, Tenn., (AP) Seven rookies were still with the Pittsburgh Pirates last night and club officials said some, or not all of them, will remain through the early part of the season.

Rain. The Buc's game with the Memphis Chickasaws was rained out yesterday and a few hours later the major leaguers left for Washington. They will meet the Washington Senators Saturday.

Rookies still with the club are pitchers Ron Kline, Jim Waugh and Ed Wolfe, infielders Lee Walls and Dick Hall and outfielders Bobby Del Greco and Brandy Davis.

Hotel On Wheels

Roswell, N. M., (AP) Ball players traveling with Roswell of the Longhorn League this year can get their sleep no matter how long the trip may be.

It is the first club in organized baseball to have a hotel on wheels—a bus equipped with beds.

Graziano Far Down On List Of Challengers

Washington, (AP) The National Boxing Association ratings, out yesterday, show that the NBA takes a dim view of "Rocky" Graziano's chances against Sugar Ray Robinson next Wednesday night.

Even though "Rocky" is getting a crack at the title, the NBA figures there are nine middleweights around who are better than Graziano.

Topping the list, of course, is the champ, Sugar Ray himself.

Then come the logical contenders. Heading this list is Randolph Turpin of England, who beat Robinson in London on July 10—and then lost the title in a

Bucknell Edges Georgetown

Washington, (AP) A pitcher's wildness helped Bucknell to a 5-2 victory over Georgetown's baseball team yesterday after the Hoyas had scored first.

Runs. Bucknell started counting in the fourth inning when, with the bases loaded, Georgetown pitcher Jack Nolan hit Brad Myers and walked two other men to force three runs home. Two more were added in the fifth on two hits, an error and a couple of walks.

Sommers Turns Out State Title Holder

By Will Grimsley

New Brunswick, N. J., (AP)—Sgt. Curt Simmons, trim and tanned, bade good-bye to the Army yesterday and moved quickly to pick up the shreds of his interrupted pitching career with the Philadelphia Phillies.

"I may go to Philadelphia today to see about my contract," the 22-year-old southpaw said after receiving a pre-noun honorable discharge at nearby Camp Kilmer yesterday.

"I plan to be in uniform tomorrow when the Phils play an exhibition game with the Athletics. If things go right I should be taking my regular turn in a couple of weeks."

Young Simmons, a $65,000 bonus pitcher who won 17 games for the Phillies before he was snatched up by the Army in September of 1950, reached the end of a whirlwind mustering out process at exactly 11:07 a.m. (EST).

Final Papers

He signed his final papers, drew a brown envelope containing $200.40 and after a brief chat with friends motored to his home in Egypt, Pa.

"I hope I'm through standing in lines for a while," he commented. Last Sunday Simmons was in Frankfurt, Germany, serving with special services in the 28th Infantry Division. Monday he was in Washington after a hitch-hike air ride across the Atlantic. Tuesday he entered Camp Kilmer for the three-day separation procedure.

As a sergeant he drew $140 monthly. As an ace of Manager Eddie Sawyer's staff, he figures to receive a year's contract for at least $15,000.

"I'm not interested in any bonus clauses based on how I do make out this year," he said. "But I don't expect any contract trouble with Mr. Carpenter (Bob Carpenter, owner of the Phillies)."

Waiting in the bright sunshine for the Army to complete its business, Simmons spoke freely of his own hopes and of the outlook in the National League.

"I feel in good shape," he said. "I'm about 187 now, a little heavy but I can stand it. All I need is some conditioning. A few relief jobs and I should be ready to go all the way."

The erstwhile sergeant said he had managed to keep abreast of baseball news while in the Army and he felt the Giants and Dodgers were the teams to beat for the pennant again.

"But with the Dodgers losing Don Newcombe and the Giants losing Monte Irvin, it should be a tough race. If we can get some hitting we should be right up there ourselves. We seem to have the pitching."

Collegiate Golf. Washington and Lee 6, John Carroll 6, Lehigh 6.

And though it was Lovellette's 40 point production that gave his Kansas teammates a 70-65 triumph over the Explorers in the Olympic trials, Big Clyde was a poor second to Murray State's Purcell in the balloting for the outstanding player.

Walter Dukes, 6-11 center from Seton Hall, and Jim Tucker, 6-07 center from Duquesne, missed being unanimous by one vote. The fifth man on the all-opponent team is St. Joseph's John Doogan, 6-06 junior.

After Turpin came Gene Hairs-ton of New York, Laurent Dauthe of France, Robert Villain of France and Dave Sands of Australia.

Then come the outstanding boxers: Charles Humez of France, Norman Hayes of Massachusetts, Paddy Young of New York, and, at last, Graziano, placed "way down in number ten."

The ratings provide few surprises. For one thing, no new champion has been uncovered since the final 1951 ratings. So all the activity has been confined to juggling the names of the contenders.

Probably the greatest drop came in the light heavyweight department, where three months ago Harry Matthews of Seattle was considered the best bet for a chance at champion Joey Maxim.

Indeed, at about that time Matthews was considered a candidate for a bout with the ancient but agile heavyweight king, Jersey Joe Walcott.

Now Matthews has been demoted to third place, with the veteran Archie Moore of Missouri moving up to top light heavyweight challenger and Harold Johnson of Pennsylvania taking over the number two spot.

Mays' Draft Call Appeal Turned Down

Montgomery, Ala. (AP) — New York Giant outfielder Willie Mays will have to report for induction into the armed forces May 17 as ordered, selective service officials said yesterday.

"He simply doesn't meet the requirements for a dependency deferment for reasons of hardship," said Col. James T. Johnson after an interview with the major league star.

Johnson said Mays didn't present any new information which had not already been considered when he appealed from an induction order by his local draft board some time ago.

Grounds for which selectees can be excused under the dependency requirements are:

One—He must be a married man with a child.

Two—To meet hardship qualifications he must be present in the home to look after the everyday needs for those claimed as dependents.

The Giant outfielder claimed he is the chief support of four of his nine brothers and sisters and that his stepfather is unemployed.

Mays was picked as the rookie of the year in the National League last year.

He failed to pass an aptitude test at his first pre-induction examination but was reclassified 1-A after a re-examination.

Mays, who will be 21 May 6, told reporters he was "ready to go in" for his two-year hitch.

Until May 17, Mays said, he will play ball.

"That's my living," he added. Col. Johnson, who made the decision that Mays does not have a undue hardship, reminded the New York Giant outfielder that he owes perhaps a greater obligation to his country "than others because of his promise in the sports world."

Lock Haven Grappler Moves Into Final Olympic Mat Trials

Pittsburgh, (AP)—Six University of Pittsburgh wrestlers qualified for the final Olympic trials at Iowa City as the result of their performances in the Tri-State trials which ended last night at Pitt field house.

Two Diamond Organizations List Drills

Two Monroe County baseball teams announced plans for practice sessions in the near future last night, as each prepares for the diamond league activity that gets underway early next month.

Manager John Schoonover announced that Pocono A. C. would hold its initial practice grind of the spring tomorrow at 1 p.m., at Gordon Giffels field.

Schoonover has asked that all those interested in playing with the local Blue Mountain League club attend the drill session if at all possible.

Wayne Metzgar, pilot of the Anomalink entry in the Pocono Mountains League, listed two practice sessions for his charges last night.

The Anomalink club will hold both of its drills at the Henryville field, with the outings being listed for Tuesday and Thursday of next week. Both drills will begin at 6 p.m.

Video Rights Sold

Chicago, (AP)—Television and radio rights for the Ray Robinson-Rocky Graziano middleweight title bout at Chicago Stadium next Wednesday yesterday were sold for $80,000. James D. Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, announced completion of the deal with a brewing company (Papst).

Hugh Perry, chief of Olympic hopefuls of the Panthers, proved to be the best competitor in the 114.5 pound class by pinning Manuel Pikahkis of Canonsburg in only 51 seconds. Under the complicated point scoring system, practically all finalists are eligible for the Iowa trip.

Among those qualifying are Len De Augustino of Lock Haven Teachers, and Sam Mareno of Clearfield. De Augustino continued his unbeaten string in the tourney by pinning Mareno at 10:50 in the fifth round action of the 136.5 pound division.

In the 174.5 pound class Ray Bronzie of Edinboro State Teachers eliminated Bob Benson, Warren, by a decision. In the unlimited division, Eldred Kraemer, of Pittsburgh, unattached, was eliminated by Homer Barr of Warren, by a fall at 5:20.

Ray Carlson of Waynesburg College, qualified in the 174.5 pound class after pinning Ray Bronzie of Edinboro Teachers in a third-round afternoon match. Bronzie avoided elimination by coming back to decision Bob Benson of Warren.

Results of other final bouts last night (all finalists in these matches qualify for final trials):

125.5-pound class: John George, Pitt, defeated Bob Carlin, Indiana University.

147.5-pound class: Charles Uram, Pitt, defeated Earl Courtwright, Fifth Infantry Division.

160.5-pound class: Joe Solomon, Pitt, defeated Vince Kelly, Baltimore YMCA.

Chisox Win On Error

Atlanta, (AP)—Nelson Fox scampered home on an infield error in the tenth inning yesterday to give the Chicago White Sox a 10-9 decision over the Atlanta Crackers. The White Sox second baseman reached base via a walk and counted the winning score when Atlanta second baseman Harry Hanerink fumbled Al Zarilla's grounder.

A's Defeat Greensboro

Greensboro, N. C., (AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics—playing their last road exhibition game of the current spring training grind—had to come from behind yesterday to whip the Greensboro entry in the Carolina League 9-6.

The Patriots pounded starter Joe Coleman for five runs in the third inning to erase a 4-0 lead the A's had established in the first two frames.

Offensive

Greensboro put together three hits, an error and a pair of walks to rack up their five tallies.

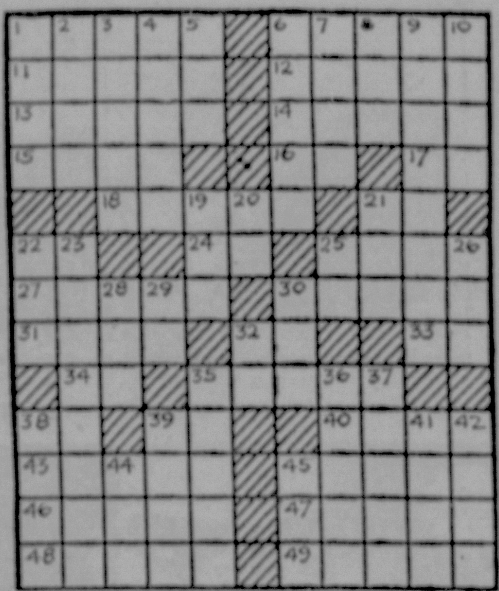

Coleman gained some measure of consolation in the fourth by tying up the score at 5-5 with a homer.

Associated Press Scribe Picks Yanks To Repeat In American

By Jack Hand

St. Petersburg, Fla., (AP)—Can Casey Stengel two-plate the New York Yankees to a fourth straight pennant—even without Joe DiMaggio? I'll vote the "yes" ticket.

This swing shift ball club hardly compares with the block busters in the 1936-39 stretch. But it will do until a better one comes along.

Stengel hit the nail on the head when he said: "We've been rebuilding and winning at the same time. Those other fellows tell you 'watch us in three years.' Well, they watched us the last three years."

New Machine

Under the very noses of the American League, the Yanks built a new machine while losing such vital parts as DiMaggio, Tommy Henrich and Charlie Keller. Only Phil Rizzuto remains of the pre-war Yanks.

On paper the Cleveland Indians, with their three 20-game winners in Bobby Feller, Mike Garcia and Early Wynn, look like the class. They may crack Stengel's run to ward a record-tying four straight. But they'll have to learn how to win at Yankee Stadium.

The final standings will be something like this:
New York
Cleveland
Chicago
Boston
Detroit
Philadelphia
St. Louis
Washington

Steel Negotiations Recess Until Today; Ban On Deliveries Lifted

CLUTCHING AN EASTER TOY, two-year-old Gary Smith is comforted by nurse, Barbara Sleppy at the Pittsburgh Eye and Ear Hospital. The child, whose father is a steelworker, was helping brothers pick up some broken glass when a sliver pierced his eye. The pupil and optic nerve were so badly damaged that surgeons may soon have to operate on Gary's left eye to save the right.

Justice Department Probed Morris Ship Deal Half Year Before Cleanup Appointment

Washington, (AP)—Rep. Keating (R-NY) said yesterday that six months before Newbold Morris was chosen as the administration's cleanup man his connection with a surplus ships deal was under investigation by the Criminal Division of the Justice Department.

Morris, appearing before a House committee on which Keating is serving, said this was the first time he had heard anything about it.

Keating asked him whether he would have agreed to become a special assistant attorney general and start out on his corruption hunt if he had known about it.

"I certainly would not have accepted it (the appointment)," Morris replied. He added that if he had had any idea that such an inquiry was under way he would have rushed to Washington and "got it cleared up."

Keating told the ousted cleanup man that he only wanted to know whether he had known about the inquiry, and that he was not accusing him of any wrongdoing.

"There was no misconduct," Morris said, "by me or by my (New York law) firm."

It was not brought out immediately what the outcome was of the Justice Department investigation.

Morris, New York attorney and socialite, was called by the House judiciary subcommittee in its investigation of former Attorney General McGrath's administration of the Justice Department.

Morris' law firm represented Chinese interests which acquired several war surplus tankers. A recent Senate investigation produced evidence that two of the vessels ferried oil to Red China until a month before the outbreak of fighting in Korea.

Morris told the investigators he had heard that "many" cabinet members were prepared to quit rather than answer his now-famous financial questionnaire.

The ousted corruption hunter said he thought this attitude on the part of President Truman's lieutenants "was responsible for changing the President's enthusiasm for my mission."

Morris told members of the subcommittee that he thought McGrath delayed firing him in the hope that "Charley Wilson or some other dollar a year man" would refuse to answer his questionnaire and tell him to go jump in the river.

He apparently referred to Charles E. Wilson, who resigned as defense mobilizer recently in protest against the administration's steel policy.

Bakery Prices May Be Raised

Washington, (AP)—The government said last night that housewives generally may have to pay more for bread, cakes and pies under a new regulation governing bakery ceiling prices.

The Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) said the amount of price changes would vary across the country, depending on how much individual members of the five-billion-dollar-a-year bakery industry have raised prices in the last couple of years.

One official estimated the increases would run from a penny for a loaf on bread or a dozen rolls to perhaps as much as five cents on more expensive cakes.

Truman Urges CSC Appoint Postmasters

Washington, (AP)—President Truman stirred up a new controversy in the Senate yesterday by calling upon it to give up its historic power to pass on appointments of many postmasters and all U.S. marshals and Bureau of Customs officials.

The President sent Congress three separate organization plans. One would take 21,438 city postmasterships out of the field of political patronage—and Senate confirmation—and place them entirely under Civil Service. The appointments would be made by the postmaster general instead of by the President, as they are now. First, second and third class postoffices would be affected.

A second reorganization plan would remove 94 U.S. marshals in this country and its territories from presidential appointment and Senate confirmation. They would be named by the attorney general under Civil Service rules.

A third plan would bracket into Civil Service, subject to appointment by the Secretary of the Treasury, the offices of collector of customs, comptroller of customs, surveyor of customs and appraiser of merchandise. There was no immediate estimate as to how many persons this order would affect.

Under the reorganization act, the plans become effective unless either the House or the Senate reverse them by a constitutional majority—218 representatives or 49 senators—within 60 days.

Truman's proposal ran into instant and powerful opposition in the Senate, which now had the right to pass upon thousands of postmasters, customs officials and marshals.

Republican Senate Leader Bridges of New Hampshire called the Truman move an effort to assure 20,000 Democratic patronage jobholders permanent status "now that he sees the shadow of a Republican victory in the offing." Truman said the plans would not result in advantage to any political group.

Senator Gore (D-Ga.), chairman of the Finance Committee, announced immediate opposition, saying:

"I don't favor it. If the Senate has any respect for its responsibility in selecting and confirming honest and efficient officials, the move will be defeated."

Some Senate support was promised by Senator Humphrey (D-Minn.).

"I'm for the reorganization plans," Humphrey said in an interview. "I hope the Senate Committee on Government Operations will approve them."

New York, (AP)—Gov. Earl Warren, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, said last night he was not interested in the vice presidency.

The California governor was asked in a radio interview whether it was right to assume "you are not interested in being a vice president?"

"Precisely," replied Warren. In 1948 Warren was Thomas E. Dewey's running mate in the New York Governor's race for the presidency.

New Treatment For Hemophilia Discovered; Patients Not Cured But Helped Materially

Newark, N. J. (AP)—A new treatment for hemophilia—the hereditary disease in which the blood will not clot—has been reported by the Research Foundation of Newark Beth Israel Hospital.

Hemophilia is inherited only by male children and it is passed to them through the mother.

They are born with an important ingredient of their blood missing. Because of this lack, the blood will not clot, and the slightest cut or scratch becomes a dangerous hemorrhage.

Many hemophiliacs become invalids as they grow up, because repeated tiny hemorrhages in their limbs eventually result in the locking of their joints.

And they grow up also with a psychological handicap. Their parents tend to be overprotective, never allowing them to run or play with other children for fear

'Jerk' Carlsen Returns To Sea In Enterprise II

Mobile, Ala. (AP)—The Flying Enterprise II sailed last night, returning a happy Capt. Kurt Carlsen to the sea.

The trip to Houston, Tex., will be the plucky skipper's first voyage since his crippled ship sank beneath him in a North Atlantic storm three months ago. At Houston the ship will pick up a cargo of grain for France.

Before sailing, Carlsen told newsmen it would be "a great relief" to escape the deluge of movie, book and lecture offers that have rained upon him since his return to this country.

The modest skipper firmly declined all such offers.

"Who am I? he asked. "Three months ago I was just another jerk. Well, I'm still a jerk. Who wants to listen to me?"

HST Refuses To Be Drafted; Silent On Ike

By The Associated Press

President Truman said yesterday he is out of the race and can't be drafted, but he hinted he might speak out on his personal choice for the Democratic presidential nomination.

A week ago, Truman said the Democratic national convention should be free to pick its own candidate.

Questioned at his news conference yesterday whether he would express a preference among the candidates before the July convention, Truman replied:

He hopes it won't be necessary for him to do it, but the President has a right to a preference the same as any other citizen.

But he said he had no preference to express—right now.

Truman declined to comment on reports that General Eisenhower had already sent in his resignation as supreme Allied commander in Europe. He said he will make the announcement when Eisenhower is ready to have an announcement made.

On Capitol Hill, a top figure in the Eisenhower-for-president campaign who asked not to be named said he has "every reason to believe Eisenhower's resignation has been received either at the White House or the Pentagon."

Airmen Living In Tents While Officials Argue

Chateaufort, France, (AP)—A thousand U.S. Air Force personnel are living in tents instead of barracks in this unfinished base here because of a delayed decision over who pays for what.

Chateaufort Depot, which was to be the largest outside the United States, is still a skeleton because of an eight-month delay in allocation of funds which are to come from either the Mutual Security Agency or the U.S. Air Force.

Millions of dollars worth of supplies were dumped here but the depot still lacks warehouses, machine shops, and semi-permanent eating, sleeping and recreation quarters.

Allied Planes Wreck Rail Center

Seoul, Korea, Friday, (AP)—Allied planes wrecked a Communist North Korean rail center last night, using rockets, bombs and machine gun fire to rip up tracks and bridges and burn warehouses.

Fighter-bombers from three Allied wings made the big strike just north of Kunu when ground haze—which had hampered aircraft all day—lifted just before darkness.

Red anti-aircraft guns threw up a heavy concentration of flak. Three anti-aircraft guns were destroyed and 16 others hit.

Reiterate Views

Munsan, Korea, (AP)—The Communists took only 90 seconds today to reiterate their views on Russia and military airfields in a Korean armistice. Then the Reds suggested that the Panmunjom session recess until tomorrow at 11 a.m., and the Allies agreed.

CIO Claims 260,000 Phone Workers Idle

Detroit, (AP)—A plan for settlement of the four-day-old telephone workers strike still eluded negotiators yesterday in the midst of reported mounting idleness.

Estimates of the striking CIO's Communications Workers of America place the total idle in the nation's telephone industry at approximately 260,000.

Violence in one city cropped up yesterday as effects of the strike spread. A picket line battle in Pittsburgh sent one man to a hospital and four others to jail.

In New York, an American Telephone & Telegraph spokesman, who asked that his name not be used, said he wouldn't argue with the union's figure on idleness except to say:

"We know it's very high, but not that high."

Also in New York, Ernest Weaver, a union director of the nationwide Western Electric telephone installers strike, came out of a mediation to tell newsmen:

"We will definitely have a long strike. He said he based this prediction on the amount of progress made up to now."

In reply, Western Electric said: "The company can't possibly predict the duration of this strike or any other strike. We've worked very hard since Jan. 15 (when negotiations began) to reach a settlement. We are working hard now and intend to continue to work hard to reach an agreement."

Any settlement here with Michigan Bell was expected to point the way toward agreements nationally.

The CWA demanded wage boosts of from 19 to 23 cents an hour. Its members average about $1.54 hourly. The company offered a $4 to $7 weekly raise, estimated at about 12 1/2 cents hourly.

Also at issue were intercity pay differentials and job classifications.

Strike heads at Washington said picket lines now are keeping nearly 200,000 other employees off the job.

Actually, about 77,000 persons are on strike. These include 61,000 of the Bell System in Michigan, Ohio, New Jersey and Northern California and 16,000 Western Electric workers.

From state to state the strike picture varied. Many exchanges were not. In general, however, it was all orderly.

Bell managements said phone calls continued to go through although conceding that delays were frequent, particularly in areas lacking the automatic dial system.

The violence at Pittsburgh was reported to have been provoked by a picket's shouted epithet at a non-striking girl employee crossing a picket line.

Police used nightsticks in a melee in front of the Bell Telephone Co. building. Patrick J. Morgan, 32, vice president of the CWA local, was hospitalized with a head laceration.

Ex-Nazis May Be Training Reds

Seoul, Korea, Friday, (AP)—U.S. Air Force officers say Communist air power is slowly outdistancing the Allies in the Korean war and they suspect former German Nazi jet pilots are helping to train the Reds.

These officers from the Fifth Air Force, who spoke only with the assurance of anonymity, said the lull on the battle front also was defeating "Operation Strangle," the air strikes at Red supply lines.

They declared one reason is the Fifth Air Force is not being maintained at full authorized strength.

The propeller-driven F-51 Mustang of World War Two, out of production now, still is a mainstay in Korea. But getting parts is a headache. Mustang squadrons have cannibalized worn out planes but that supply is running low.

Bell Installations Picketed In Number Of Nearby Cities; Local Service Still Normal

No pickets appeared yesterday at Strodsburg's Bell Telephone building and a Western Electric employee said his union has not told him if any will show up today.

Service in the local area continued normal. The company's staff of plant men, maintenance men and 110 telephone operators were reporting for work as usual.

An official of the company, who reported that Pittston's Bell plant was picketed yesterday and service in that city disrupted, said that if the same thing happened in Strodsburg all calls would have to be handled by three supervisors.

The county area serviced by the Bell company never has felt the effect of an all-out strike. On previous occasions telephone operators have continued working and service was virtually normal.

Nearby cities where picketing was going on last night included

Muddy Missouri Surges Over Fifth Of South Dakota Capital

Pierre, S. D., (AP)—The mighty Missouri—now a swirling muddy sea—surged over one-fifth of this capital city last night as U. S. Army Engineers said the flooding river may have reached its greatest height.

Some 1,600 had left sudden homes in the worst flood here in recent history.

Downstream, the "Big Muddy" forced itself through dikes and swept over low farm land near South Sioux City, Neb. The big Sioux City, Iowa, stock yards were expected to be flooded. Hundreds of farm families were forced out.

A reading at Pierre showed the river was apparently holding at slightly more than 25 feet—some ten feet over the flood point.

Led by Pierre Mayor John Griffin, sandbag crews were apparently winning a two-day struggle to keep the silt-filled floodwater from swamping the city's two-million dollar power plant.

Normally between two and three blocks wide at the twin cities of Pierre and Ft. Pierre, the Missouri has grown to about a mile in width—swelled by the winter's fast-melting snow and ice.

The main Pierre business district had "closed shop." Some 120 blocks of this city of 5,700 were under water. All of Ft. Pierre, population 700, was inundated.

The fourth and last Pierre well was flooded early yesterday, but a several days' supply of drinking water remained in reservoirs. The food supply appeared adequate for many days.

Plant Closings Cost One Million Tons Of Steel

Pittsburgh, (AP)—Smoke billowed from steel plant stacks across the nation yesterday as the industry speeded its comeback from the shutdown it imposed in the face of a threatened nationwide strike.

From every section of the land reports showed major steel companies are gathering speed in efforts to restore normal production. Their steel is badly needed for defense and by the civilian steel-consuming factories.

The steel shutdown was called off when the government seized the industry and the CIO United Steelworkers cancelled a scheduled Wednesday strike.

Steel plant closings cost one million tons of lost production, according to an estimate by Iron Age, metal working trade journal. That's roughly half of what steel output has been in recent weeks.

Not until week's end will the last furloughed steelworkers be put back to work and the last sign of the shutdown be wiped out. Each company is calling men back in what steel executives call "an orderly manner."

Plants Lose Second Test In Courts

Washington, (AP)—Efforts to bring quick peace to the troubled steel situation failed last night as negotiations broke up without signs of progress after day-long talks.

There was evidence, however, of less tension over the defense production situation as the government lifted its ban on steel deliveries. These were frozen before President Truman seized the industry Tuesday night and a threatened strike was called off.

None of the bitterness aroused between the government and the steel owners seemed to have diminished. In court lawyers for the steel industry angrily accused the government of "stalling" as Federal attorneys succeeded in a move to delay a quick legal test of President Truman's right to seize the mills.

Government officials met with leaders of the steel industry and union representatives in an effort at a quick settlement of the issues that brought on the strike. After their long session spokesmen for both sides declined to indicate how the conference is going but another meeting was called for 10 a.m. today.

In U.S. district court, Judge David A. Pine upheld government objections against an immediate hearing of the dispute.

Judge Pine said that under court rules he had no choice but to give the government at least 20 days to reply to the companies' suits for a permanent injunction against seizure.

It was the second setback in less than 24 hours for the steel companies in their legal skirmishing to overthrow Truman's order for Federal operation of the strike-threatened industry.

The companies lost the first round of an expected long-drawn court battle Wednesday when Judge Alexander Holtzoff refused to grant their plea for a temporary restraining order to bar the government from the steel plants. In other swift-breaking developments:

One—Secretary of Commerce Sawyer, named by President Truman as boss of the government-seized mills, sought to allay industry fears that he would give the steelworkers an immediate pay boost and perhaps approve a union shop contract.

"For the time being," Sawyer told a news conference, "existing (pay rates and working) conditions will continue, as far as I am concerned."

That implied that for the time being at least the workers will get the same wages as before the government took over the mills, pending the outcome of new labor-management negotiations.

Two—President Truman brushed off an industry leader's charge that he seized the mills in "a corrupt political deal" with the CIO. Truman declined to comment on the charge at his news conference.

Three—However, CIO President Philip Murray lashed back at the "deal" assertion by Clarence B. Randall, president of Inland Steel Co., denouncing it as "a malicious and deliberate lie . . . an insult to President Truman and me." He called Randall "a prevaricator of the lowest type."

Meanwhile, negotiations between industry leaders and the CIO Steelworkers Union broke up last night without any sign of progress. "We're still on dead center," a union official said, indicating that nothing had changed since the pre-seizure negotiations collapsed in New York on Tuesday.

President Benjamin Fairless of U.S. Steel and CIO President Philip Murray—both present at the talks led by Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman—declined to say how the peace parleys were going.

Fairless said he was returning to Pittsburgh, but Vice President John Stephens of U.S. Steel indicated that industry representatives have not given up hope for a settlement.

"We're coming back," Stephens told newsmen.

With the industry's fires roaring back to life again, Secretary of Commerce Sawyer instructed the National Production Authority late in the day to lift its ban on steel deliveries.

The NPA had frozen deliveries in advance of last Tuesday's strike threat.

70 Children Participate In Egg Hunt

Delaware Water Gap—Some 70 youngsters of the local school, and pre-school age children, scrambled to their heart's content on the lawn at the Presbyterian Church Wednesday in search of Mr. Bunny's gifts.

Top winners, who gathered more eggs than their juvenile companions, included David Chamberlin, Sandra Carlton and Nancy Ace. All youngsters received a prize and chocolate egg.

The youngsters, even while enjoying themselves, didn't neglect two classmates who were confined to General Hospital, Darrell Heater and Allen Rinehart both were recipients of baskets made by the children.

Committee in charge of the hunt, sponsored by the local PTA, included Mrs. Earl Carlton, chairman; Mrs. Paul Morton, Mrs. Charles Dutt, Mrs. William Miller and Mrs. John Jennings Sr.

Glenn L. Martin's Ouster Reported

Baltimore, (AP)—The Baltimore Sun says Glenn L. Martin, pioneer aircraft builder, has been ousted from active management of the Glenn L. Martin Co. because of "financial ailments" suffered by the big Baltimore plant.

The Sun said the action was taken this week in the nation's capital at the start of a two-day meeting of new financial interests.

It listed those interests as the Mellon National Bank, the Chase National Bank of New York, the National City Bank of New York, and the Baltimore National Bank.

Communications Strikes Hamper Florists Placing Or Receiving Easter Flower Orders

The strike of telegraph union employees put a blight on one of America's hardy perennials this year—the flowering of love by long distance.

During recent years Americans have relied on "flowers by wire" to give their love and respects to mama, sick friends and sweethearts. This practice came to a halt this week with the first major telegraphers' strike since 1919.

Ordinarily the florists would fall back on the relatively simple procedure of placing all orders in other cities by long-distance phone call.

This week, however, the telephone workers' walkout curtailed the alternative.

Despite the stacking of the cards against them, florists in Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg were doing "good business" yesterday.

Two florists had had good luck in placing their orders by long distance to New York, New Jersey and other parts of Pennsylvania. Each handled more than a dozen "outgoing" orders during the course of the business day yesterday.

In addition to their "good luck" in putting through phone calls, the florists had had incoming orders placed through the mail by air mail and special delivery.

Servicemen now serving overseas were responsible for some of the orders received by mail.

Although it was not possible to send orders by telegram all requests for the delivery of flowers in other cities were being handled with a minimum of delay, florist shops indicated.

When there is need to see better there is always a way—be sure. Nothing so necessary, costs so little.

Our Honor at Stake

The United States cannot go back on its word. It cannot make promises and break them. It cannot forfeit the respect and confidence of the free world.

For that reason, the issue of involuntary repatriation of war prisoners in the Korean peace talks is basic. Far more is at stake than the lives of 20,000 Oriental POW's who have renounced Communism—although that should be enough.

It is a question of international morality. In defense of that principle, we have elected to oppose Communism—international immorality. If our word is not good, we might as well quit now.

Thousands of enemy soldiers have come into our lines carrying surrender pamphlets promising food, clothing and fair treatment. It is not enough to say we did not promise them permanent sanctuary.

The average POW thought we did promise sanctuary. We encouraged him to think so. We encouraged him to renounce Communism. He would not have surrendered if he had thought otherwise.

Now, belatedly, the Communists promise amnesty to all POW's in our hands—even those who have tattooed anti-Red slogans on their bodies. This has all the earmarks of a buildup for a phony deal.

Chairman Richard Russell of the Senate Armed Services Committee, is one who isn't fooled. Such a promise, he says "isn't worth a damn."

Rep. Walter Judd, a former medical missionary in China, says to accept the Communist offer would be "an admission that a Communist's word is good and ours is worth nothing." If we buy that, Dr. Judd says, "no one in Asia ever again will—or ought—trust the United States."

Washington Report

—by Fulton Lewis, Jr.

Washington—The Russian government has the stage set for an international proposal to swap peace for foreign trade. Secretary of State Dean Acheson and the new U. S. Ambassador to the Soviet Union, George Kennan, are waiting in the wings for a well-timed entrance. Their cut will be hinged on the progress made by the State Department, the United Nations and the Kremlin in softening up the American people to accept Russian good-will in exchange for tools, machinery and raw materials.

The Soviet proposal jibes with the current administration party line that Mr. Truman has been peddling along with his Secretary of State. Both keep on harping that their only desire is world peace and that it can be obtained if skeptical Americans, including the Republican party, will quiet down while the geniuses continue their work.

The Kremlin's current global trade powwow, which is being attended by a number of American citizens, is the first move in a well-planned propaganda campaign to soften up the west. Russia, for all her ground grabbing in Europe and Asia, needs machines and technical instruments from countries outside the Iron curtain. She wants consumer goods for a restless population, also, and by her actions admits that the trade blockade has hurt.

Coupled with the International Trade Service is a peace propaganda drive that has Secretary of State Acheson grinning with delight. Via the government of India, Great Britain and the U. S. are being coaxed into a big power peace parley.

Acheson and Mr. Truman have always been ready to exchange chit-chat with Premier Stalin face to face, but so far have been unable to convince the American people that we won't be robbed blind again by the Russians. The British have been cheering them on. Now, however, there is a new approach to the problem.

Instead of the heads of state attending an international gabfest, the Soviets will soon make a spectacular approach to the United Nations for a peace and prosperity meeting. U. N. officials are just as happy over the prospects as Mr. Truman and Secretary Acheson. Such a move would revitalize the U. N. as well as provide new fodder for the administration's propaganda effort to convince the voters that peace is

The decision we face is a hard one. Thousands of Americans—our sons, husbands, neighbors and friends—are held in North Korea and China. We are desperately tired of the Korean war. We want it over—now.

But peace without honor is no peace at all. And there is no honor in a peace which breaks our word, sells a trust, sends other men to certain death and torture. It is a tough decision—but there is only one choice.

We cannot buy peace with treachery. We only buy our own destruction. As Dr. Judd warns, "every life saved with that kind of deal will be paid for with a great many more."

The people of the U. S.—decent, right-thinking people—must make this crystal clear to the befuddled minds in the State and Defense Departments. Lives and morality transcend everything—including military necessity. The solemn word of the United States cannot be dishonored.

The Incredible Future

Why not take time off for a few minutes from worrying over the affairs of the immediate present and give a little thought to the incredible future being planned for us?

For example, what about that 2500 miles-an-hour airplane being built by the Boeing company in Seattle, whereby it is expected to fly through the air with the greatest of ease at a speed that could lift us from coast to coast in just about 60 minutes.

While the Boeing company is building the airplane, the big Pratt and Whitney plant in Connecticut is working on the development of the nuclear power plant for it, and the Navy is deep in its plans for an atomic-powered submarine.

Maybe the future is only as incredible as the capacity of our imaginative minds.

Broadway and Elsewhere

—By Jack Leit

April Showers—Pre-Easter show business, always lean, was even poorer than usual last week. Variety reports the legit houses did 70 percent of capacity, as against 79 percent the preceding week and 80 percent in the same period in 1951—very bad. "Three Wishes for Jamie" did best in the newcomer list. "Constant Wife" closed with a small profit and will tour next year. The Oliviers will depart with their Cleopatras this week. "The Brass Ring" opens tonight. The big musicals stood up sturdily, though not all sold out.

Next week will see the town overrun with conventions. But the out-of-towners do not scatter their patronage enough. Almost all have their ideas in advance—they want the big smashers. And most of them go for the song-shows. That may be blamed on—or credited to—the syndicated columnists. There is little else widely published around the map about the B'way "flesh" productions. So the strangers flock in with preconceived designs on the houses that are selling out month after month, and the fair draws are snubbed, though they get some cabbage as second choices.

Next week will find in our midst, for instance, conclaves of such bodies as Modern Network Synthesis Symposium, North Atlantic Regional Conference for Agricultural Education, American Society for Testing Materials, International Association of Medical Museums, Eastern Claims Conference, etc. Most of the visitors will casually apply, after they get here, for "good" seats where there are no seats, and go away muttering, "If I'd offered that fellow in the cage a bribe, I bet he'd have found tickets."

The most heart-warming box-office success of the late entries is "Mrs. McThing," with Helen Hayes, by Mary Chase, even more whimsical than her "Harvey." This was frankly an experiment, with doubts that it would turn out "commercial." But it equaled "The Fourposter," one of the season's knockouts, doubled "Sisag 17," and passed "Venus Observed" and "The Shrike." Of course, all those are far along in runs. . . . A U. S. ruling raising the tax rates on advance sales has cut sharply into all grosses and the industry is trying to devise means of circumventing or counteracting the gimmick.

Jane Froom took her husband to view "With a Song in My Heart," her film biog at the Roxy. She was recognized and set upon by the clatterglasses, much to the embarrassment of Capt. John Burn, Pan-Am liner pilot, who had been busy cloud-hopping and hadn't yet seen his wife's screen story, in which he is portrayed by Rory Calhoun, whose following has been composed mostly of bobby-soxers. . . . Burn burns at the ribbing he's taking from other airmen, who saw the pic, because he is impersonated by a comparative kid. But he has proven he's a game guy.

Doris Lilly's book, "How to Meet a Millionaire," sold 15,000 copies in the United States. Translated, six months later, it reached 100,000 in France to date. Could

Looking At Life —by Erich Brandeis

"Have you ever been sorry that you stopped commuting to New York?" asks a reader from Wayneboro, Pa.

The reason for the question is that she—though she does not say so in so many words—wants her husband to retire, but is afraid to confront him with her desire unless she is reassured that he won't regret it.

By "commuting to New York" the lady means, of course, holding down an eight-hour-a-day job.

No, I have never been sorry for a single moment that I retired from commuting, although I cannot for a moment maintain that retiring from an office job is the same thing as retiring altogether.

If you think that writing 312 columns a year—each, if possible, on a different subject is "retiring"—try it some time and see.

This year is particularly hard for me. It being Leap Year I have to write 313 columns and, incidentally the one I wrote for February 29th—the extra one—just about answers my Wayneboro friend's question.

It was about that seventy-year-old Metropolitan Opera extra who said "To do small things right, that is fine, too."

There comes a time in every man's life when he THINKS of retiring. The old body just doesn't function the way it did thirty years ago. One gets tired earlier in the day. One looks at the clock more often. One doesn't feel like staying out so late, and the fun of former days seems kind of silly. That is when you ask yourself the question "Is it worth the effort?"

The great majority of us cannot retire even if we wanted to. But there are thousands who have laid by enough to pull out and take it easy.

Age doesn't seem to be the determining factor. I know many fellows who got tired of their jobs at 40. Others don't feel that way until they are 65 or 70. The question then arises what you are going to do with the sixteen waking hours each day at your disposal. I don't think that hobbies will do the trick. The main ambition in everybody's life is to do something that is USEFUL. You want to feel that you are NEEDED for something and by somebody. Just fiddling around with tools and knitting needles is only a poor substitute for the real thing. Hobbies—at least in my opinion—are something like an ingrown toe nail. They hurt like the devil, but they are not like pneumonia or some other disease that you get a lot of sympathy for and can talk about a lot. In other words, I don't think that anyone ought to retire unless he has FIRST got himself something else, something USEFUL to do. It doesn't necessarily have to bring revenue. There are other rewards for USEFULNESS besides money. What that something is going to be is up to YOU. It all depends on your taste and on the opportunities. If retiring means just sitting around and making a nuisance of yourself, I say NO. If it means taking up some kind of usefulness to take the place of another that has become too heavy for you—by all means DO IT. Just as long as you do something that keeps you from thinking about YOURSELF.

Seven out of 10 persons are right-eyed while 20 out of 100 prefer their left eye for sighting a gun, for example. For all practical purposes, the upper limit of the earth's atmosphere may be set at 100 miles. The U. S. court upheld the freedom of the seign.

These Days - - By George E. Sokolsky

New York market for a lot of office space for the Voice of America, which apparently has a long life expectancy beyond anything yet known to the American taxpayer.

The Voice of America wants to lease-purchase 500,000 feet of office space, 30,000 feet of which is to be double-ceiling height studios. This space may be leased from 5 to 25 years. The plan includes a proposal . . . for acquisition of title to such properties and structures by the United States at or before the expiration of the lease terms. Maybe all this is the usual language of the Administration in getting office space, but it looks like eternal tenure.

It is desirable that the entire area be air-conditioned, although it would seem that the amount the government is willing to pay would not quite make this possible, so they propose to air-condition the double-ceilinged studios. The office space is to be in the most expensive part of the city, near the private broadcasting stations.

This is a very interesting announcement because it indicates that the "Voice of America" expects to be in business a long time, although many doubt its usefulness, including members of Congress who can vote it out of existence. Precisely why does the "Voice" need so much space in overcrowded New York? What will they do with it? How many persons will they have to hire to utilize that space? What do they intend to do with the space they already occupy?

The curious thing about it all is that in spite of a budget approaching $100,000,000, nobody thinks of economizing. Economy is as important as efficiency although they are really parts of the same idea. The Hoover Reports, it is said, are 50 per cent implemented, yet there is no evidence in the budget of any economy. The Hoover Reports were designed for increased efficiency and considerable economy. There is no evidence of either.

The Hoover Post Office recommendations have apparently been discarded. Efficiency is abandoned like an alien disease. The Post Office gives every evidence of decreased efficiency without providing any realistic evidence of economy.

In a big city like New York, where there are 8,000,000 inhabitants and which is a hub of world business and finance, the Post Office is being sabotaged by the officials in Washington. It is not unusual for a businessman to telephone to ask whether a letter sent the day before had actually arrived. Not only are deliveries inadequate, but collections are delayed.

The other day, I stopped a couple of letter carriers on the street to ask them why letters are so slow in motion. One said to me: "Ask Jim Farley!"

Maybe I am slow-witted but I thought that Jim Farley had been out of the Post Office these many years. But the letter-carrier explained that there had been nobody in it with any common sense since Jim left.

It was direct testimony about the confusion in a government department that used to be the pride of the country. A two-cent stamp would carry a letter anywhere in our fair land through rain, snow, sleet and the heat of summer. Now, it costs more and it moves at snail's pace. And it is not the fault of the hard-working mail clerks or the carriers or the rural postmen. It is the career men who sit in Washington and sabotage improvement. The Post Office rejected the Hoover Commission's recommendations.

What can the "Voice of America" say about that with or without the additional 500,000 feet of expensive space in the heart of New York? Or, what are they telling the people of India or Ceylon or Yugoslavia or wherever it is they try to make their voice heard about what the President said to his Attorney General at the Washington airport?

We shall probably have to continue to suffer waste and extravagance and futile government

Hollywood

—by Gene Handsaker

Hollywood—What do you think of American men? That's always supposed to be a good question to ask a foreign-born actress. But from Hildegarde Neff, the provocative German emigre, it got this sequel:

"Why do American men ask 'What do you think of American men?' Do you need assurance?" When she returned to Germany after a previous stay in Hollywood, Miss Neff continued, nobody asked her what she thought of American men. They asked political questions and what she thought of America in general.

Miss Neff doesn't categorize lovers by nationalities. "The individual is what counts," she observed. "Love is the only international language. It's something everybody understands. Why should we limit it to languages, upbringing, background and goodness knows what?"

"If you talk too much about such things, you have less time to do them. Which doesn't mean the whole thing is to be a silent picture. Sound tracks are all right."

Miss Neff, 26, is tallish and blonde. Reminds you, especially in profile, of Ginger Rogers. American audiences are meeting her in "Decision Before Dawn," in which she played a fallen nice girl in wartime Berlin.

She's now a countess, in a low-cut black gown with lots of artificial diamond trimmings, in "The Snows of Kilimanjaro."

Divorced from an American soldier, Kurt Hirsch, she is reported to be the romantic interest of Anatole Litvak, who produced and directed "Decision" in Germany.

The Once Over

—by H. I. Phillips

To A White House Dog—Dear Fala: Sleep well there, close to your master. Not too well, of course, for a dog has to perk his ears at a sound or a rustle in the darkness and open an eye lazily to a familiar sight. Put your funny head between your paws, face the boss, as a dog loves to do, even in sleep. Enjoy pleasant dreams, including the wonderful pooch dream in which you hear a whistle, a foot-fall on the gravel path, a snap of fingers or a slap of hand on knee, and romp to a window to see a master or mistress, absent only an hour, but seemingly gone a year!

Rest, Fala, in the surpassing comfort only a dog knows when there's a home-coming and a reunion with a loved one. Dead? How silly! Your tail wags as of old at familiar sounds, creaks, voices, whispers. Your eyes still see . . . you can scamper after a ball, yes, and growl at any skeptic's suggestion it's all in spirit form, a matter of ectoplasm. There is some distance, true, between the master's grave in the rose garden, and yours . . . but you will feel a warm hand reach out often to touch you "again and again" . . . You will lick his wrist and nuzzle his knee. Let foolish humans scoff that those are ghostly chairs and spectral sofas as you leap from one to another; you know better. Now, Fala, you can frolic through the ages and never be tired, or hear a "that's enough," "go lie down!" or the quiet, "mu!" Yours are now the starways and corridors of eternity. Your dog-run spans the everlasting hills. The fields through which you scamper are peopled by countless children, each with

Yes, and in a dog's paradise there are, of course, miles and miles of fringe to chew, gossamer draperies to tug at, rugs to shake, towels to destroy! And slippers? I'll bet you never dreamt of so many, all the master's size, too!

You can do one thing now you could never do deliberately before, lose your head and romp so heedlessly behind a table that you get tangled in the electric cord and drag the lamp to the floor. Look at all those tables and lamps in a dog's heaven! . . . there must be a million . . . cords dangling all over the place! . . . Get going, Fala! . . . Shoot the works! . . . Bang! . . . Wham-mm . . . Crash! . . . It's only priceless bric-a-brac! . . . And the wonderful thing is that whenever you pull over a $1,000 lamp, an angel "sets 'em up in the other alley!"

You were deaf in the last days, Fala . . . But you hear now . . . The voice you loved rings clearly again . . . A lot of folks didn't understand the master . . . You always did . . . Some people were irritated by his laughter, but not you . . . Nothing he ever did exasperated you or tested your patience . . . Humans are funny that way . . . Dogs never are . . . There's the long-missed whistle, Fala! . . . Come a'runnin'!

The purpose of that Russian trade conference is, many nations suspect, to "give 'em the business." Joe DiMaggio, in his baseball video debut, is wonderful . . . Walter Winchell has his critics, but there are few who have not envied him his vitality, his gusto and his zeal . . . His trouble is simple to diagnose: he had only enough vitality for five or ten men and could never bear the words "relax" or "take it easy, kid" . . . What he has done and is doing for cancer sufferers is a matter for cheers and hat doffings . . . Drew Pearson takes his hour on radio, but W.W. will be back strong and soon . . . The American Auto Association says a poll at an antique auto show showed 317 out of 661 said they would like to crank the car again .

Eldred, Hamilton School Boards To Confer With State Agency

Final Plans For Buildings To Be Aired

Two Monroe County school districts have been invited to attend meetings in Harrisburg for the final preparation of plans for new school buildings financed through the State Public School Building Authority, it was announced yesterday by County Superintendent of Schools John C. Litts.

Both Eldred and Hamilton Townships will attend separate meetings this month at the office of R. C. Bartman, executive director of the authority.

The Eldred meeting will take place on April 16 at 2 p.m. in Bartman's Harrisburg office. At that time Eldred school directors, the board solicitor, the school architect and Litts will make preparations for the final phase leading to the township's new building.

The School Building Authority recently approved funds in the amount of $150,660 for Eldred's purposes. This is a maximum figure and the State will finance only up to that amount. The building may cost any amount less to build.

Hamilton school board members have been notified that their meeting is to be held Monday, April 28, at 3 p.m., at Bartman's office. The board members, solicitor, architect and additional interested personnel are again invited to attend.

The State authority has approved a maximum of $265,388.40 in funds for the Hamilton Township school.

Barrett Grade School Pupils Give Program

Barrett—A special Easter program was presented by pupils of the fourth, fifth and sixth grades of the township school Wednesday morning.

A play entitled "The Pink Egg" was given by students of the fourth grade. Participating were Meredith Monica, Joan Wilson, Donna Rake, Maryetta DeFuria, Zandy Hulbert, John Elac Stanley Seese, Bobby Besecker and Albert Bevan. The Easter story, written by Cathy Ford, was retold by Grace LaBar.

"Wanted, an Easter Rabbit" was the title of a play presented by sixth grade students. Cast included Barbara Hulbert as the teacher, and Mary Lou Hunsinger, Carolyn Hay, Judy Snyder, Joyce Siglin, Margy Larkin, Darinda Britton, Judy Mazurik, Ida Seese, David Bixler and David Henry as pupils.

Fifth grade rendered a play "The New Easter Bunny." Participants were James Hardy, Janis Peters, Richard Heckman, Janis Fish, Frank Doll, Billy Manos, Leon Heater, Joseph Harrington, Tommy Bridge, Jerry Williams, Verne LaBar, Tracy Gray, Kenneth Sphar and Donald Heater.

Recitations were given by Joan Cramer, Jane Snyder, Clarabelle Jones and Louise Seese. Students of the sixth grade sang and Ronald Kreckman served as announcer for plays of grades five and six.

Teachers in charge of the assembly were George Lester, Miss Mary Bush and Karl Price. Music was directed by Martin Peiffer with Nancy Huguenin as accompanist.

Defense Bond Sales Ahead Of Year Ago

March sales of Series E Defense Bonds totaled $34,650 in Monroe County, compared to $27,843 sold in the same period last year, it was announced yesterday by E. H. Wyckoff, county chairman.

Total E, F and G defense bonds sales for March were $41,650. In Pennsylvania, Series E purchases amounted to $23,029,202 compared to $25,242,591 sold in March, 1951. Total sales of E, F, and G bonds in the State totaled $26,950,036.

County Chairman Wyckoff said the cash value of Series E defense bonds held by individuals throughout the nation is now $34,727,000, which is an all-time peak. This figure tops by $234,000,000 the cash value of Series E holdings at the end of 1950, and is $4,000,000,000 more than the cash value of Series Es outstanding at the end of World War II financing.

Driver Held For Court

Roseto—Charged with involuntary manslaughter, Michael Stampone, Bangor RD3, was bound over to the grand jury after a hearing here last night before Justice of the Peace Lewis Martocci.

He is free on $1,000 bond. Stampone is accused of driving a car which struck and fatally injured Grant Leon Kahler, 5 son of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Kahler, as the boy played near his home last month.

Temperature Drops
Pittsburgh (AP)—Winds up to 60 miles an hour lashed the Pittsburgh district late yesterday but there was no heavy property damage. The temperature, which had risen to 78 degrees, dropped 13 degrees within an hour and Weather Bureau spokesmen said the drop was a forerunner of cool weather expected for Easter.

National Community Chest Executive Offers Suggestions

A three-day study of Monroe County Community Chest and Council operations produced a report filed yesterday with board of directors and the campaign committee showing the administrative costs of the local chest is lower than the national average.

Charles X. Sampson, assistant campaign and finance director of Community Chests & Council of America Inc., New York City, talked with directors and campaign committee yesterday afternoon at the YMCA building.

Mr. Sampson's critique on Chest and Council operations included a thorough study of several member agencies of the Chest and Council.

His report found all current practices sound and worthwhile. Sampson presented, however, several suggestions for additional practices which will be studied for incorporation in Chest activities, especially campaign operations.

J. Albert Groner, president of the Chest, presided at a brief meeting of the board of directors prior to the joint meeting with campaign personnel to hear Mr. Sampson.

Carlton G. Long, chairman of the Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce scrap drive committee, appeared before the board with a proposal that the Chest might take over the scrap effort as a money-raising proposition.

Directors referred the proposal to the campaign committee for further study. Walter S. Peeney, chairman of the campaign committee, had his entire group present to hear Sampson's report and to ask numerous questions concerning campaign projects throughout the nation.

Dr. C. S. Flagler will be out of town April 13 to 27.—Adv.

County Signs Contract For Vote Machines

A contract for purchase of 21 voting machines was signed by commissioners yesterday.

The price: $1,219 each, f.o.b. Jamestown, N. Y. This was $8 lower than the price quoted by the Automatic Voting Machine Co. a few weeks ago.

The contract includes an option giving commissioners the right to buy an additional 14 machines at the same price. The option expires April 1, 1953.

Payment for the machines will be made within 30 days after all of the 21 have been delivered. Commissioners elected to make the payment in cash. The money will come out of the county's general fund, and insurance will be handled by the county.

The first 13 machines are expected at the courthouse Monday. They will be distributed to election houses so that voters may practice on them during the primary elections April 22.

Of the first batch of machines, five will go to Stroudsburg, six to East Stroudsburg, and one each to Middle Stroud and Middle Smithfield Townships.

The other eight machines purchased will be delivered by Sept. 1.

The 21 machines will be used officially for the first time at the November general elections.

Commissioners Amzi F. Altomose, W. Adolph Rake and Granville Shiffer spent a portion of the day making a personal tour of election houses to arrange storage space for the machines.

Chief Clerk Harry Taylor reported the decision was to store 20 of the machines at the election houses where they will be used. The Red Cross building on the courthouse square in Stroudsburg is the only polling place where the machine will not be stored between elections. Other arrangements will be made in this case, Taylor said.

Storage at election houses will be at no cost to the county.

County Assessor Receives Books For Distribution To Officials In 29 Districts

The county's 29 new assessment books were delivered yesterday to Chief Assessor George Smith. They will be turned over to local assessors early next week.

Smith, in a letter to local assessors, is giving instructions to list the total number of taxable properties or "units" in each local district. When the information is returned, Smith will compile the total number of taxable properties in the county. Evidently no such figure has been available at the court house in previous years.

There will also be a total for the number of persons subject to occupational taxes in the county.

The lists of occupations and respective assessments on them will be included in the letters to local assessors. There are no changes from last year in the rates of occupational assessments.

New legislation sets the deadline for this year's assessments as August 1, a month earlier than in other years.

M. E. Leffler To Attend C. D. School

M. Eugene Leffler, Delaware Water Gap, will attend the Civil Defense training school at Ogonitz Center starting April 14. It was reported yesterday.

Assistant Director Jack Anderson of the county C.D. office, said the two-week course is to train C.D. instructors. Tuition and board are paid by State and Federal C.D. funds.

Anderson said the county office is urging township and borough C.D. directors to submit the names of other persons interested in attending the course. The full course is repeated every two weeks.

State Fixes Cost Of STC Salary Law

The State Department of Public Instruction yesterday estimated a new salary floor in East Stroudsburg State Teachers College and 13 other such colleges in Pennsylvania would have a combined cost of about $750,000 in the next five years.

Assistant professors, associate professors, full professors and instructors will be affected by the new minimum salary law.

The payroll for instructors and professors at the colleges now runs about three million dollars a year.

The salary increase was fixed by the 1951 Legislature after a drive for mandated minimum salaries by an association of the college professors and instructors.

Dr. Henry Klonowicz, the department's director of teacher education and certification, said, however, a 10 per cent pay boost ordered by Gov. John S. Fine for all employees last year took the edge off the college salary law.

"The across-the-board increase by the Governor removed the effect of the mandated minimum salaries for the present school term," Dr. Klonowicz said. "They will have full effect in the next school term, however."

The new law establishes a scale of minimum salaries in four different job categories, plus five annual automatic increases of $200 each. The automatic boosts will cost about $150,000 a year for the next five years.

Instructors who earned less than $3,500 a year are brought up to a minimum of $3,500 a year providing they hold a bachelor's degree and have three years of experience, including two in public schools.

Other minimums include: Assistant professors—$4,000 a year, with four years' experience, including three in public schools, plus a master's degree.

Associate professor—$4,500 a year, with five years' experience, including four in public schools, plus a doctor's degree.

Professor—$5,000 a year, with seven years' experience, including four in public schools, plus a doctor's degree.

Teachers colleges are limited by the law to classifying not more than 30 per cent of their teaching personnel as professors.

Delaware Trucks Must Conform To State Weight Law

Harrisburg (AP) — Delaware-licensed trucks will have to conform to Pennsylvania's 45,000-pound weight limit law after April 20.

Maj. E. J. Henry, State Police traffic officer, disclosed yesterday that cancellation of a Pennsylvania-Delaware agreement resulted in orders to State Police to enforce the 45,000 weight limit on trucks licensed in Delaware after that date.

Otto F. Messner, secretary of revenue, cancelled the 1938 agreement as discriminatory. Under it, Delaware trucks could carry 60,000 pounds on Pennsylvania highways. At Dover, Del., the Delaware Motor Vehicle Commission said Pennsylvania authorities cancelled the agreement after hundreds of Pennsylvania trucks came to Delaware to buy licenses so they could carry the heavier load.

25 Hunters Met Death During 1951

Harrisburg (AP) — The State Game Commission yesterday reported an official hunting death toll of 25 persons last year—nine more than the year previous.

Another 386 persons suffered non-fatal wounds in hunting accidents in the Commonwealth. This was 63 less than in 1950.

Of those killed while afield last year, 14 died during the small game season while 11 met death during big game hunting. The report also showed nine of those died from self-inflicted wounds.

The commission also released its first official report of the game kill last year. It showed a bag of 34,582 antlered deer, compared with 23,302 in 1950. The antlerless deer kill totaled 37,952, compared with 31,515 the year previous.

The kill last year for other game (1950 kill in parenthesis): Bears, 429 (354); rabbits, 1,258, 246 (1,533,968); hares (snowshoes, 1,506 (1,445); Hungarian partridges, 69 (15); squirrels, 541, 158 (546,574); raccoons, 99,413 (74,649); wild turkeys, 8,862 (5,278);

Ruffed grouse, 45,250 (36,403); ringneck pheasant, 385,598 (353,279); quail, 7,363 (4,461); woodcocks, 14,409 (17,500); rails, gallinules and coots, 6,755 (4,925); wild waterfowl, 56,529 (52,519); woodchucks, 258,314 (251,648); doves, 8,215 (10,533).

Mrs. FDR Visits New White House

Washington (AP) — Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt revisited the White House yesterday and found the remodeled mansion more livable than during the 12 years she called it "home."

Mrs. Roosevelt was invited by Mrs. Harry S. Truman to come and look it over.

"All the dignity of the White House has been kept, but it is now more attractive, lighter and brighter," said Mrs. Roosevelt.

ROAD TO RESURRECTION

Illustrated by Alfred J. Buescher

"Then the soldiers of the governor took Jesus into the common hall... And they stripped Him, and put on Him a scarlet robe. And when they had plaited a crown of thorns, they put it upon His head, and a reed in His right hand; and they bowed the knee before Him, and mocked Him, saying, Hail, King of the Jews!" Matthew 27: 27-29

"And as they came out, they found a man of Cyrene, Simon by name: him they compelled to bear His cross. And when they came unto a place called Golgotha, that is to say, a place of a skull, they gave Him vinegar to drink mingled with gall: and when He had tasted thereof, He would not drink." Matthew 27: 32-34

"And it was the third hour, and they crucified Him. And the superscription of His accusation was written over, THE KING OF THE JEWS." Mark 15: 25, 26

Two Churches To Conduct Service Today

Today from noon to 2:30 p.m. a special devotional service will be held in the First Presbyterian Church of Stroudsburg. The Presbyterian Church and the Zion Reformed Church are combining their efforts in presenting this service with the theme centered around "The Seven Last Words."

An organ meditation will begin at noon and continue until 12:20, when consideration will be given to Christ's last words from the cross. Rev. Ernest T. Campbell will be assisted in this service by Rev. Frank Blatt, Zion Reformed Church; Rev. Frank Wingerter, East Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church; Rev. Hubert D. Newton, Delaware Water Gap; Robert Bradburn, Shawnee; and Alex Crossan Jr., Middle Smithfield Presbyterian Church.

Appropriate music will be by a combined Presbyterian Reformed choir, with Mrs. Alberta Yutz as soloist.

Invitation is extended to all who would like to attend the service, to drop in at any time during this period. Friends may come and go any time between 12:00 and 2:30.

Mr. and Mrs. John Zink and children Jack and Charles spent the weekend in Lancaster County, where they visited relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. George Huguennin and children Richard and Bobby were weekend guests of Mrs. Huguennin's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. Westley Riday, of Queens Village, Long Island.

Johnny and Mike O'Neil and Mr. and Mrs. J. Quarmley are visiting Mr. and Mrs. S. O'Neil of Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Besecker and daughter, Brenda of Cherry Valley were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Meyung.

Katie and Stewart Kreck are visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Kreck, of Phoenixville.

Reformed Consistories Elect Rev. Bohner To Presidency

Kunkletown—St. Matthew's Church here was the scene recently of the second annual banquet of the consistories of the Brodheadsville-Hamilton charge of the Evangelical and Reformed Church.

Rev. Adan Bohner was elected president; Edgar Hamm, vice president and George Costenbader, secretary-treasurer for his 25th consecutive year.

William Slutter and Robert Bittenbender were named delegates primarius and secundus respectively to the synod which will hold its next meeting in the form of a banquet at the local church April 26, 1953.

Rev. Bohner outlined activities during the year and expressed his appreciation for the gift and celebration given him on his 25th anniversary. He also announced he officiated at 31 funerals, 11 for members of the church; baptized 34 persons and officiated at 15 weddings during the year.

Edward Longshore, representing Hamilton Church, with nine members in attendance, reported acquisition of a tract of land adjoining the church and the best of $8,000 fund during 1951.

A trust fund of $12,500 and presentation of three sets of altar cloths, white, purple and green, were noted by the Mt. Eaton Church during the year, Frank Shick disclosed.

A new building plan to add to the church has been launched at Brodheadsville, Carl Kresge revealed. He announced no acquisitions during the year since renovations were made in 1950.

Repairs totaling $12,613, all liquidated, was announced for Kunkletown Church by P. Borger. A new furnace also was installed in the parsonage which is owned and maintained by the Kunkletown Church only, he reported.

Payment of apportionment fund and contributions to World Service were announced by each church representative.

Following the dinner, served by the Ladies Aid Society to 58 persons attending, slides were shown by Dr. Percy Smith who also spoke on the work of the Evangelical Reformed Church.

Ministerium To Broadcast Meditations

The Monroe County Ministerial Association will join forces with radio station WVPO today to present a two-hour devotional service built around the seven words of Christ from the cross. The program will run from 1:05 to 3 p.m.

Seven clergymen from the community will present meditations. Those participating include Rev. Frank Blatt, Rev. Walter Johnston, Rev. Adan Bohner, Rev. Harold Eaton, Rev. Ernest T. Campbell, Rev. William Wunder, Rev. Dr. P. N. Wohlson.

The meditations will be interspersed with impressive seasonal music. A Good Friday edition of the Upper Room will also be woven in. The program has been especially designed to bring the message of this Holy Season to those who are unable to make their way to church.

Spare Chicks, Bunnies SPCA Asks Parents

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals made a plea to parents not to purchase baby chicks or rabbits for the children's Easter baskets unless they are prepared to protect them from the over-zealous affection which the children naturally wish to lavish on them till they're hurt, and further unless they have definite plans for their future.

The matter was brought out at the meeting of the local SPCA held Tuesday night at the municipal building in Stroudsburg, with Mrs. Ellen Albenzi, president, presiding.

Plans were announced for the benefit card party to be held Wednesday, April 16 at the Indian Queen Hotel, with Mrs. Francis Brodhead of Stroudsburg in charge of tickets, which may also be purchased at the door.

A vote of thanks was given to Mrs. Willis Goddard and Mrs. George Salvo, chairman of the successful bake sale.

Plans were also made for the observance of "Be Kind to Animals" week, May 4-10. May 4 is to be Humane Sunday, and they are asking the cooperation of ministers in the county. There will also be special radio and newspaper stories during the week. Miss Wealthy Kortz is chairman of the local observance.

The May meeting will be the last open meeting until September and they are expecting to present a speaker.

Son Is Born To Sicklers

Staff Sgt. and Mrs. Sherman E. Sickler, of East Stroudsburg announce the birth of a son at the General Hospital on April 3. The baby has been named Sherwin Edwin Sickler II.

The maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. J. Russell Philman of East Stroudsburg and the paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ross S. Sickler of West Pittston.

Sgt. Sickler is at present serving in Germany but expects to return early this summer.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

There's no lack of Easter trimmings about the news these days. Everything from jelly bean hunts to hat parades and Easter programs, and Easter Monday dances.

And a plea from the SPCA to parents to think twice—or maybe three—before they buy Easter chicks or bunnies for children who are likely to smother them with love.

And to that plea—I might add a warning—we did it one time. Bought Easter chicks, I mean—way back when the children were small. They came in assorted colors. I remember, purple and red and blue—another practice deplored by the SPCA, I understand.

However, it didn't hurt these chicks. They thrived and grew—and grew—and sprouted pin feathers—and a more nauseous sight than a chicken all over pinfeathers and faded purple down you never saw. They outgrew the box, they outgrew the cage and started flying around the house. They outgrew the piano box we got for them outside; and outgrew the shanty we converted for their use.

Finally, in desperation, we bought nine acres to turn them loose on. I don't say that I'm sorry, but come to think about it those Easter chickens turned the whole course of our lives.

Now I wouldn't advise you not to buy them—but maybe you'd better think four times, first.

Smithfield Tri-Hi-Y Makes Toys

The Tri-Hi-Y of the Smithfield Consolidated School shared their Easter cheer with the small patients at the General Hospital. For the past two weeks they have been making Easter toys to take to the children's ward at the hospital. They made puppets and dogs from face cloths; clown bean bags and other items, arranged them on a flat tray, decorated in yellow and green.

With their advisor, Mrs. Melvin Shook, they took them to the hospital at the close of school on Wednesday to let the children who were patients there take their choice, and then left the rest for future patients.

Hat Parade Marks Sunshine Easter Party

The Sunshine class of the East Stroudsburg Methodist church brought their Easter gifts to the meeting held on Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. Harry Warwick. They presented $105 as their Easter offering, and also voted to contribute an Easter lily for the church decorations on Sunday, in memory of the two members of the class who died during the past year.

The class teacher, Mrs. Maude Stem, gave Easter readings, and Mrs. Arthur Helms spoke on the human interest story in the Resurrection.

At the business meeting, plans were made to supply a supper for the Exchange club and their guests on April 28, and members were asked to bring a 25 cent gift to the May meeting. Mrs. Vernon Garis, president, was in charge of the meeting.

A hat parade followed with Mrs. Walter Brown as pianist for the Easter parade of original creations. Prize for the prettiest hat went to Mrs. Maude Stem, for the most original to Mrs. Smiley and for the funniest to Miss Helen Grant. Mrs. Lenora Strauser, Mrs. Berenice Nauman and Miss Christensen served as judges.

Easter refreshments were served by Mrs. Elva Peters and her committee.

Pleasant Valley Missionary Groups Meet

Gilbert—The Women's Missionary Society of the Pleasant Valley Lutheran parish met in the quilting hall of St. John's church, Effort, Monday, March 31.

The topic, "Women's Work in India" was led by Mrs. Hayden Murphy and presented by Mrs. William Kunkle, Mrs. Frank Hawk, and Mrs. Leo Everitt.

Colored slides on "An India Visit" were shown and described by the president, Mrs. James Laubach.

The first four chapters of Dr. George Howard's book "We Americans: North and South" were discussed for Mission Study by Mrs. Homer Shupp, Mrs. Jonas Snyder, Miss Florence Christman and Mrs. Arlington Martin.

The business meeting was led by the president at which time a committee was named to plan for the annual reception for the Confirmation classes. On the committee are Mrs. Homer Shupp, Mrs. Hayden Murphy, Mrs. LeRoy Hinton, Mrs. Martin Serfass and Mrs. Claudia Shiffer.

A gift was sent for the "Sarah Snyder Project" to purchase slides she will take along for use in India when she returns in May. The next meeting will be a full Mission Study session at Salem Chapel, Gilbert, April 28.

Following this announcement, refreshments were served by the ladies of the Effort church.

Baptist Missionary Society Meets

Portland—The Ladies' Aid and Missionary Society of the Baptist church held its April meeting on Thursday afternoon at the church with Mrs. Elias Jones presiding at the business meeting and also serving as hostess.

Those present were Mrs. Emeline Baker, Mrs. Pauline Busem, Mrs. Frank Barron, Mrs. Ernest Courtney, Mrs. Sarah Evans, Mrs. Irvin Henry, Mrs. George Kitchen, Mrs. Harry Michaels, Miss Margaret Stone, Mrs. Philip Strunk, Mrs. E. Reimel, and the hostess, Mrs. Jones.

Air Force Sergeants Are Married

Sgt. Caroline Schaumann, of Henryville, became the bride of Tech. Sgt. Glen Smith, of Niagara Falls, N. Y., in a double ring ceremony performed Sunday, March 23, at 4 p. m. in the Zion Lutheran church, Maywood, N. J., according to announcement made here.

Rev. Gilbert H. Pfeiffer officiated.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father wore a gown of white Chantilly lace over white satin. Her veil was softly draped from a crown of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses, with long streamers of white baby ribbon.

Miss Edith Schafer, of Rochelle Park, N. J., was the maid of honor and wore a gown of pale blue net with matching shoes and accessories. She carried a bouquet of var-colored roses with streamers of rainbow ribbon.

The best man was Edward Peistor, of Rochelle Park, and the ushers were William McNeerney, a cousin of the bride, and George Peistor.

The church was filled with friends and relatives from Oneonta, Niagara Falls, Rome, Kingston, Long Island, New York and from Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

After a reception at the Club Rochelle, Mr. and Mrs. Smith left for a brief honeymoon. They have not returned to their base at Scott Air Field, Ill. Mrs. Smith is a sergeant in the Woman's Air Force, where she has been senior tab machine operator at the headquarters squadron.

In a few weeks they will be transferred to Boise, Idaho, where they will both be on recruiting duty.

Jelly Bean Hunt At Play School

A jelly bean hunt on Wednesday marked the closing day of school for the children at the Pocono Cooperative Play School, held at the Grace Lutheran church. During their milk period they had special iced cookies and at lunchtime, Easter cup cakes and colored eggs were added to their usual menu, and there were special Easter decorations at the tables.

The party was provided by their mothers and the teacher, Miss Cynthia Doan.

Miss Rothrock Is Bride Of Cpl. Moyer

Portland, Miss Marion Evelyn Rothrock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Rothrock of 2049 Hackett Ave., Easton, became the bride of Donald Marvin Moyer, U. A. A. F., son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Moyer of 256 Lincoln St., on Saturday afternoon at a ceremony in the Calvary Memorial Methodist church. The ceremony was performed by Rev. George E. Eppehimer.

Cpl. and Mrs. Moyer are now on a trip to Florida. Cpl. Moyer is stationed at Stewart Air Force Base at Newburgh, N. Y.

A reception followed at the home of the bride.

Mrs. Edward Hay President Of Happy Hour Club

Tobyhanna — The Happy Hour Club of the Methodist Church elected officers for the ensuing year at their annual anniversary dinner as follows: President, Mrs. Edward Hay; first vice president, Mrs. Joseph Wilton; second vice president, Mrs. William Dailey Sr.; secretary, Mrs. Frank Hocher; and treasurer, Miss Leona Dreher.

The retiring president, Mrs. Walter Troch, was chairman of the dinner. Tables and dining room were decorated in the Easter motif.

Easter Party Is Held By Laurel Court

The Laurel Court, Order of Amaranth, held an Easter party following their meeting on Tuesday night. Mrs. Betty Tretheway, royal matron and Mrs. Cathleen Van Why, royal patron, presided at the meeting.

Mrs. Dorothy Slutter and Mrs. Pauline Grover were chairmen of the hostess committee of members from the South Side of Stroudsburg: Mrs. Alice Saunders, Mrs. Ruth Zettlemoyer, Mrs. Charlotte Westbrook, Mrs. Mary Dunkelberger, Mrs. Lizzie Hintz, Mrs. Inez Rupert, Mrs. Katurah Raub, Mrs. Grace Mann. The court hostesses, Mrs. Alvertia Dennis, Mrs. Carrie Slutter and Mrs. Anna Van Over again assisted.

A film on "Natchez Pilgrimage" was shown after the meeting by Mrs. Dorothy Lim, past royal matron.

Easter Monday Dance Planned By Sodality

Mount Pocono—The April meeting of the Blessed Virgin Mary Sodality of St. Mary of the Mount Church was held on Monday night, April 8, at the home of Catherine and Helen Grady.

Final plans for the Easter Monday dance to be held at Skyline Inn under the auspices of the Sodality were discussed.

Miss Joan Conway was welcomed as a new member. The rosary was recited before the meeting and Rev. Vincent Hararity, moderator, discussed the current religious novels.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Pocono Club Discusses Road Signs

Tannersville—The Pocono Garden Club met at the firehouse on Tuesday afternoon, April 8, with Mrs. Millard Rice presiding. There were about fifty members and friends present, with the following visitors: Mrs. Tom Brown, Mrs. Dale Learn and the Misses Wilhemina and Dorothy Meyer. Mrs. Tom Brown was afterwards voted into membership in the club.

Mrs. Robert Stadden, chairman of the roadside beautification committee, reported she had talked with Mr. DeHaven, Historical Society leader at the school, with regard to the placing of a marker at Scotrun as a possible project for the students, but that no definite decision had been made.

She also reported her talks with the road supervisors in regard to placing a blinker at Bartonsville. They are getting further information in this matter.

Mrs. John Smith reported on the progress of the flower show committee which is getting the schedules in order. The flower show will be held August 13 and 14. Mrs. Smith also reported that Mr. VanSciver, who is working with local 4-H Club, has asked to have a space reserved for their display.

Bulbs which had been ordered were distributed.

Mrs. Rice asked for comments on the recent trip to the Philadelphia flower show, and Mrs. Dorothy Heller, Mrs. Estelle Granacher and Mrs. Helen Kresge made interesting contributions on this matter.

On "Timely Topics," Mrs. A. H. Mathiasen illustrated on the blackboard the proper manner of penetrating roots of trees with dormant sprays, this being the proper time of year.

Mrs. Frances Besecker introduced the speaker, Mrs. Marjorie Canfield, who gave a talk on "Flower Arrangements," demonstrating with illustrations.

The Easter arrangements were judged by Mrs. Stadden and Mrs. Dunbar and the following each received 10 points: Mrs. Leon Parcell, Mrs. Dot Heller, Mrs. Daisy Allegar and Mrs. Charlotte Mathiasen. Mrs. Parcell also brought a glorioxia for the members to see. It was a hybrid plant from her collection, with 20 blooms white speckled with purple. Mrs. Parcell has a collection of standing glorioxias in rare combinations of color. Mrs. Parcell aims to enlarge it to include various shades of red glorioxia in the future.

The hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. Grover Kresge, Mrs. Pearl Kresge, Mrs. George Niering, Mrs. Sterling Setzer, Mrs. Helen Starnar and Mrs. Harry Bond, who served ice cream and cake from a decorated table.

At the next meeting of the club, members are asked to wear the clothes in which they take care of their gardens, and it is believed this will prove a jolly meeting.

VFW Aux., Post Installation Monday Night

The Veterans of Foreign Wars and its auxiliary will hold a joint installation of officers on Monday night at 8 at the VFW home. The VFW Band will play for the installation ceremonies.

All members are invited to attend the installation and to take part in the refreshments which will be served following the program.

Returning from yesterday morning's broadcast, I found Fran Meredith on a step ladder winding ivy around the store pillars, and Marion Leedom scurrying to and fro with her arms full of daffodils. The store was being transformed into a veritable flower garden, with lilies, hydrangeas, hyacinths, tulips, azaleas, and waxen gardenias mingling their delightful colors and delicious fragrances.

I don't know how you feel about it, but to my way of thinking there's no odor in the world as wonderful as a combination of damp earth and spring flowers, and no nicer place to be at Easter than in the very middle of a floral display. I never see tulips with their heads held high without hearing the lines of the Psalm, "My cup runneth over". And one can see before him the entire story and meaning of Easter, unfolding with the petals of the lily.

Those of you who make it a part of your annual observance to have flowers in your home at Easter, will, I am sure, find that these from Wyckoff's are as lovely as any to be found anywhere. They are healthy and richly endowed with blossoms, and are priced so as to permit everyone to enjoy them. Hyacinths are being sold for as little as 69c. Lilies are $1.39 and $1.98, and the other plants come in varied prices, with the most expensive being $3.98. They are selling rapidly, of course, so if you are interested you'd better make your selection early.

Are you all ready for Easter at your house? Better take stock and be sure that nothing's overlooked... the Easter candy, the grass-filled baskets waiting for the bunny, the gloves you forgot to buy last week, and the new white shirt (an Arrow, of course!) that Dad needs so badly. Today and tomorrow are the last opportunities for these final errands, you know. As the Wyckoff Shopper, I'll gladly lend a hand if you wish. Just telephone me at "400".

And one final reminder: — Wyckoff's will be closed from 12 to 3 p. m. today in order that the personnel may join with you in observing Good Friday at worship.

Dutch Club Season To Close Monday

A new star of the one-woman theater comes to the Penn-Stroud Hotel when Susan Fletcher, brilliant young actress of stage, screen and radio background, brings a varied program of dramatic sketches before the Dutch Treat Club at 6:30 p.m. Monday.

J. Albert Groner, president of the club, said the meeting will be the final of the current season. Officers are to be elected at a brief business meeting which will also receive a report on selections for the 1952-53 season of the club.

Long a favorite performer in her native Canada, Miss Fletcher is momentarily deserting the airwaves of the Canadian Broadcasting Co. Her appearances as a monologist have drawn critical comments that are tributes to her artistry not only as an actress of dramatic skill but as a writer of plays.

Miss Fletcher's inspiration for her dramatic sketches is drawn from a crowded background in various forms of entertainment. She made her professional debut in Toronto at the age of seven. Schooling in Vienna and London as well as travel in Europe gave her a cosmopolitan polish. She was a CBS network star at 15. Theater claimed her in 1939 and she acted with New York companies. In 1941 she became engaged in a year's tour with Maurice Evans' Co. of "Macbeth."

Succession To Injury

Easton (P) — Mrs. Emily Nagle Mackay, president of the board of managers of the Easton Home for Aged and Infirm Women, died Wednesday night in Easton Hospital. She suffered a broken pelvis in a fall in the garden of her home Monday. She was the wife of Charles S. Mackay.

Expanded Worthington Plant Fills Defense As Well As Civilian Needs

The first of a series of articles dealing with industrial operations in Monroe County is presented today by The Daily Record. Aim of the series is to acquaint all citizens with what is produced here; how it is made, the type of people and skills engaged in such production and the economic impact of each industry on this region.

By James B. Gaffney

By expanding its production facilities since the termination of World War Two, and continued research and development of defense materials and equipment, Worthington Mower Co., on Second St., in Stroudsburg, is playing a vital role in the nation's war effort while contributing to the needs of its civilian customers.

Acquired by its present owners in November, 1943, the plant has continued to expand its engineering, sales and production departments.

H. G. Sandborn Jr., vice-president and general manager said, "Our sales volume is presently many times what it was at the close of World War Two, when the plant had reached what was then considered to be a high degree of efficiency and productivity."

An estimated 30 percent of production, which keeps 375 Worthington employees working 52 weeks a year, goes into government contracts, Sandborn noted.

"Presently Worthington is furnishing artillery components, and at the same time providing a modification of its civilian large-acreage mowing equipment to the Air Force, as well as the Navy and Marines," Sandborn added.

"It is significant that Worthington equipment can be found on every military airfield in the United States of America," he continued. "And on all of the airfields which our military department maintains beyond the seas you will find Worthington. This is indeed a good testimonial to the quality and stability of our equipment."

From its inception in 1913 when the late C. C. Worthington established the Shawnee Mower Co. at Shawnee-on-the-Delaware, and later incorporated it in Stroudsburg as Worthington Mower Co., the plant has increased in all phases.

As the congenial vice-president sums up the development:

"The plant has grown to the point where it now contributes in a substantial way to the economy of the whole Pocono Mountains area because the items of payroll and purchase of local facilities exceed a million dollars per annum. This is a little known fact, but nevertheless true."

A surprising factor not generally known by those unacquainted with the company and its activities, is that the concern for more than two years has been manufacturing an internal combustion engine, designed especially for Worthington mowers.

Commenting on the innovation Sandborn said "this is the same type of engine that has been standard with the Signal Corps of the U. S. Army through two wars and has proven so satisfactory, that the Signal Corps is not only purchasing all of these engines that it can get from Worthington and its affiliate, the Jacobsen Mfg. Co. Racine, Wisc., but has also commissioned the Jacobsen-Worthington combination to engineer the installation of engine building plants in two other locations. This is to assure the Defense Department that an ample supply of engines will be made available to the military at all times."

Another little known, but interesting fact about Worthington Mower Co. is the part it plays in the program set up by many universities in the nation. Emphasizing the program are the universities of Massachusetts, Connecticut, Princeton, Rutgers, Purdue and Cornell. Many innovations in grass cutting and turf maintenance equipment has resulted from the research. "Worthington's skilled engineers frequently are called upon to address gatherings, not only at universities, but at conventions held by professional greenskeepers and park superintendents," Sandborn asserted.

In other related fields Worthington has developed gang mowers for pastures in cattle raising countries, and recently introduced machinery capable of effectively mowing 100 acres in eight hours.

A companion piece is a rotary saw which employs an entirely new principle of two saws rotating in opposite directions, reducing hazards incident to felling trees in the woods and later cutting them into logs.

"Our research and development department also has produced a rotary snow thrower," Sandborn said. "This equipment is capable of handling a large volume of snow and literally throwing it, under some conditions, 30 feet.

Relatively new to this section, Sandborn came here in January, 1949 from Springfield, Mass. and brought a staff of engineers and production experts who now reside in the Stroudsburgs.

Another company official, J. C. Rodewald, assistant treasurer and assistant secretary, is a long-time resident of this area and was affiliated with the originators of the business.

Worthington plays its part in publicizing the Stroudsburgs and Pocono Mountains since all of its equipment, found in all of the 48 states and in foreign countries, carries a tag reading "Made in Stroudsburg, Pennsylvania." The firm and its employees gained considerable recognition during World War Two, receiving five personal citations, the Army-Navy "E" pennant and two stars.

Jensen Replaces Mantle In Center For Yanks, McDougald To Open Campaign In Fourth Spot

Baltimore (AP) — Sophomore Gil McDougald will take over Joe DiMaggio's old cleanup spot in the batting order in the New York Yankees' opening day lineup against the Athletics in Philadelphia, manager Casey Stengel said yesterday.

Vic Raschi, ace Yankee right-hander who won 21 and lost ten last year, will be the hurling. He probably will be opposed by Bob Shantz, diminutive left-hander.

Unless Philadelphia manager Jimmy Dykes changes to a right-handed pitcher, McDougald will bat fourth. He will switch from second to third base with mariner-bound Gerry Coleman stationed at second. This means Andy Carey, the $65,000 bonus baby from St. Mary's College, will sit out the opener.

Only Experience

Carey, whose only year of professional ball was spent in Kansas City, has been playing third base impressively in the spring exhibition games.

Should the A's start a right-hander, McDougald would be dropped to fifth and catcher Yogi Berra moved into the cleanup role.

In another announcement, Stengel said Mickey Mantle, tabbed as DiMaggio's successor in centerfield, would open in right. The swift 20-year-old flychaser, still not completely recovered from a knee injury suffered in the World Series last October, has been playing center recently.

"Mantle has looked good this spring," said Stengel, "but he probably lost his chance to play centerfield because of his knee injury."

Jackie Jensen, the former star fullback at California, will be in center and bat in the leadoff spot.

"Our best centerfielder for going back on fly balls and covering the ground is Bob Cerv," said Casey. "He may not have all the points Jensen has but there isn't a centerfielder in the league who can hit a ball as far as Cerv."

Baltimore Takes Measure Of Yanks

Baltimore (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles of the International League handed the world champion New York Yankees a 6-2 defeat yesterday in the Yankees' final game of its northward trek.

Vic Raschi's wildness set up early Oriole scoring. He walked his mound foe, Dick Starr, with the bases loaded in the second.

Two bases on balls and singles by Clyde Schell and Al Lakeman netted a pair in the third.

Perez Steps Scarlata

New York (AP) — Danny Joe Perez, 138½, New York, knocked out Joey Scarlata, 135, New York, in 2:17 of the fourth of the scheduled eight-round feature bout last night at Sunnyside Gardens.

Detroit Wins Opener

Montreal (AP) — Tony Leswick scored two goals last night as the Detroit Red Wings defeated the Montreal Canadiens 3-1 in the first game of the final best of seven Stanley Cup playoffs in the National Hockey League.

Giants Blank Indians

Tulsa, Okla. (AP) — Larry Jansen and Max Lanier blanked Cleveland on six hits yesterday as the New York Giants rapped two Indian hurlers for a dozen singles and a 4-0 triumph.

Chattanooga Trips Tigers

Chattanooga (AP) — Three Chattanooga pitchers combined for a masterful eight-inning, spoiled only by Cliff Mape's home run as the Lookouts trimmed the Detroit Tigers yesterday, 6-3.

Mape's 325-foot blow accounted for all the Tigers runs in the sixth. It came after Ben Taylor's single and "Hoot" Evers' double.

The Lookouts hopped on Detroit starter Freddie Hutchinson for five runs in the second inning and might have gotten more except for some poor base running and a neat pickoff executed by Hutchison.

Dodgers Rally To Nip Senators

Washington (AP) — Brooklyn gave Bob Porterfield two rough innings last night overcoming a 2-0 deficit and defeating Washington, 4-3, in an exhibition game before a crowd of 21,459.

First Try

The game marked the first appearance of 43-year-old Bobo Newsom in his fifth term as a Senator. The big right-hander pitched the last three innings and retired nine Dodgers in order.

Phillies Nip Cardinals, 8-7

Richmond, Va., (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies edged the St. Louis Cardinals yesterday, 8-7, to take the Spring series from the Redbirds, seven games to five.

The two teams encountered a curfew and the box of a crowd of 5,425 in that order in the seventh inning. A 3:45 p. m. (EST) curfew had been set to permit the teams to catch a train. At exactly that time, Plate Umpire Tom Gorman stopped the game.

Game Halted

That was in the seventh. St. Louis had scored two runs to go ahead, 9-8. The game was called with the Phils at bat in the bottom of the seventh with two out, two aboard and the count one-on-one on Willie Jones. The score reverted back to the end of the sixth. Three of the Cardinals' nine hits were home runs by Stan Musial, Steve Bilko and Bill Johnson. Andy Hansen, who had relieved "Bubba" Church in the sixth, gained credit for the win. Jackie Colburn, second Cardinal hurler, was charged with the defeat.

Commercial 'C' To Roll

Three matches are on tap for the Commercial "C" League today at Harmon's Recreation, at 9:15 p. m. Schedule follows:

Alleys one and two — Kreamer Ice Cream vs. Lanterman's Funeral Home.

Alleys three and four — Cole's Drug Store vs. Nauman's Sporting Goods.

Alleys five and six — Regina Hotel vs. Worthington Mower.

Braves Down Red Sox

Boston (AP) — The Boston Braves of the National League yesterday clinched the intra-city title with a 5-4 victory over the American League's Red Sox in an exhibition game at Braves Field. Lefty Warren Spahn of the Braves scattered nine hits.

Chisox Win On Error

Atlanta, (AP)—Nelson Fox scampered home on an infield error in the tenth inning yesterday to give the Chicago White Sox a 10-9 decision over the Atlanta Crackers. The White Sox second baseman reached base via a walk and counted the winning score when Atlanta second baseman Harry Haney fumbled Al Zarilla's grounder.

A's Defeat Greensboro

Greensboro, N. C., (AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics—playing their last road exhibition game of the current spring training grind—had to come from behind yesterday to whip the Greensboro entry in the Carolina League 9-6.

The Patriots pounded starter Joe Coleman for five runs in the third inning to erase a 4-0 lead the A's had established in the first two frames.

Offensive

Greensboro put together three hits, an error and a pair of walks to rack up their five tallies.

Coleman gained some measure of consolation in the fourth by tying up the score at 5-5 with a homer.

Associated Press Scribe Picks Yanks To Repeat In American

By Jack Hand
St. Petersburg, Fla., (AP)—Can Casey Stengel two-plate the New York Yankees to a fourth straight pennant—even without Joe DiMaggio? I'll vote the "yes" ticket. This swing shift ball club hardly compares with the block busters Joe McCarthy led to four straight flags and world championships in the 1936-39 stretch. But it will do until a better one comes along. Stengel hit the nail on the head when he said: "We've been rebuilding and winning at the same time. Those other fellows tell you 'watch us in three years.' Well, they watched us the last three years."

New Machine
Under the very noses of the American League, the Yanks built a new machine while losing such vital parts as DiMaggio, Tommy Henrich and Charlie Keller. Only Phil Rizzuto remains of the pre-war Yanks.

On paper the Cleveland Indians, with their three 20-game winners in Bobby Feller, Mike Garcia and Early Wynn, look like the class. They may crack Stengel's run toward a record-tying four straight. But they'll have to learn how to win at Yankee Stadium.

The final standings will be something like this:

- New York
Cleveland
Chicago
Boston
Detroit
Philadelphia
St. Louis
Washington

FOSTER, Edward M., in Stroudsburg, Tuesday, April 8, aged 50 years. Relatives and friends are respectfully invited to attend funeral services Friday, April 11 at 2:30 p. m., from the William H. Clark funeral home. Interment in the Stroudsburg cemetery. Viewing Thursday after 7 p. m., at funeral home.

WILLIAM H. CLARK

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to take this means of expressing our sincere thanks and appreciation for the sympathy and assistance rendered us by our many neighbors and friends in our bereavement in the loss of our father, Milton Andre, also for the floral tributes and the loan of autos for the funeral.

MRS. MILTON ANDRE & FAMILY

IN MEMORIAM
IN LOVING memory of Father and Husband, Mr. Wm. Keiber, who passed away April 11, 1948. The years pass by quickly dear Father.

And now the Number is four. But with every passing year dear Father we miss you more and more.

We will always keep the memory of your kind and smiling face. For we know that you are resting in that sweet and Heavenly Place. WIFE AND CHILDREN
